NEW QUESTION # 314

A set of APIs are exposed to customers using the Amazon API Gateway. These APIs have caching enabled on the API Gateway. Customers have asked for an option to invalidate this cache for each of the APIs.

What action can be taken to allow API customers to invalidate the API Cache?

- A. Ask customers to invoke an AWS API endpoint which invalidates the cache.
- B. Ask customers to use AWS credentials to call the InvalidateCache API.
- C. Ask customers to add a query string parameter called "INVALIDATE_CACHE" when making an API call.
- D. Ask customers to pass an HTTP header called Cache-Control: max-age=0.

Answer: D

Explanation:

<https://docs.aws.amazon.com/apigateway/latest/developerguide/api-gateway-caching.html> Invalidate an API Gateway Cache Entry
A client of your API can invalidate an existing cache entry and reload it from the integration endpoint for individual requests. The client must send a request that contains the Cache-Control:

max-age=0 header. The client receives the response directly from the integration endpoint instead of the cache, provided that the client is authorized to do so. This replaces the existing cache entry with the new response, which is fetched from the integration endpoint.

To grant permission for a client, attach a policy of the following format to an IAM execution role for the user.

<https://docs.aws.amazon.com/amazondynamodb/latest/developerguide/HowItWorks.CoreComponents.html> Partition key and sort key - Referred to as a composite primary key, this type of key is composed of two attributes. The first attribute is the partition key, and the second attribute is the sort key. DynamoDB uses the partition key value as input to an internal hash function. The output from the hash function determines the partition (physical storage internal to DynamoDB) in which the item will be stored. All items with the same partition key value are stored together, in sorted order by sort key value.
