Snowflake SnowPro® Core Certification (COF-C03) Sample Questions (Q720-Q725):

NEW QUESTION # 720

Which statements reflect key functionalities of a Snowflake Data Exchange? (Choose two.)

- A. A Data Exchange allows groups of accounts to share data privately among the accounts.
- B. Data Exchange functionality is available by default in accounts using the Enterprise edition or higher.
- C. The sharing of data in a Data Exchange is bidirectional. An account can be a provider for some datasets and a consumer for others.
- D. If an account is enrolled with a Data Exchange, it will lose its access to the Snowflake Marketplace.
- E. A Data Exchange allows accounts to share data with third, non-Snowflake parties.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

A Snowflake Data Exchange allows groups of accounts to share data privately among the accounts (B), and it supports bidirectional sharing, meaning an account can be both a provider and a consumer of data (E). This facilitates secure and governed data collaboration within a selected group.

NEW QUESTION # 721

Regardless of which notation is used, what are considerations for writing the column name and element names when traversing semi-structured data?

- A. The column name and element names are both case-sensitive.
- B. The column name and element names are both case-insensitive.
- C. The column name is case-insensitive but element names are case-sensitive.
- D. The column name is case-sensitive but element names are case-insensitive.

Answer: C

Explanation:

When querying semi-structured data in Snowflake, the behavior towards case sensitivity is distinct between column names and the names of elements within the semi-structured data. Column names follow the general SQL norm of being case-insensitive, meaning you can reference them in any case without affecting the query. However, element names within JSON, XML, or other semi-structured data are case-sensitive. This distinction is crucial for accurate data retrieval and manipulation in Snowflake, especially when working with JSON objects where the case of keys can significantly alter the outcome of queries.

NEW QUESTION # 722

Which Snowflake view is used to support compliance auditing?

- A. ACCESS_HISTORY
- B. ROW ACCESS POLICIES
- C. COPY_HISTORY
- D. QUERY_HISTORY

Answer: A

Explanation:

The ACCESS_HISTORY view in Snowflake is utilized to support compliance auditing. It provides detailed information on data access within Snowflake, including reads and writes by user queries. This view is essential for regulatory compliance auditing as it offers insights into the usage of tables and columns, and maintains a direct link between the user, the query, and the accessed data.

NEW QUESTION # 723

While unloading data into a stage, how can the user ensure that the output will be a single file?

- A. Use the get option SINGLE=TRUE.
- B. Use the GET option FILES=SINGLE.
- C. Use the COPY Option SINGLE=TRUE.
- D. Use the copy option files=single.

Answer: C

Explanation:

To ensure that the output will be a single file when unloading data into a stage, you should use the COPY option SINGLE=TRUE. This option specifies that the result of the COPY INTO command should be written to a single file, rather than multiple files.

NEW QUESTION # 724

A sales table FCT_SALES has 100 million records.

The following Query was executed

```
SELECT COUNT (1) FROM FCT__SALES;
```

How did Snowflake fulfill this query?

- A. Query against the most-recently created micro-partition
- B. Query against the result set cache
- C. Query against a virtual warehouse cache
- D. Query against the metadata excite

Answer: D

Explanation:

Snowflake is designed to optimize query performance by utilizing metadata for certain types of queries. When executing a COUNT query, Snowflake can often fulfill the request by accessing metadata about the table's row count, rather than scanning the entire table or micro-partitions. This is particularly efficient for large tables like FCT_SALES with a significant number of records. The metadata layer maintains statistics about the table, including the row count, which enables Snowflake to quickly return the result of a COUNT query without the need to perform a full scan.
