Esri Enterprise Administration Professional 2201 Sample Questions (Q30-Q35):

NEW QUESTION # 30

A client requires an ArcGIS Server site with the ability to:

- * Serve cached image services updated annually
- * Serve dynamic feature services from a PostgreSQL enterprise geodatabase Which ArcGIS Server license role is required?

- A. GeoAnalytics Server
- B. Mission Server
- C. GIS Server
- D. Image Server

Answer: D

Explanation:

To publish and serve cached image services, the ArcGIS Server must be licensed as an Image Server. This licensing role is designed specifically for serving raster datasets, image services, and cache-based imagery workflows.

From ArcGIS Server documentation:

"The Image Server role is required to publish and manage image services, including those that serve pre-generated tile caches and support raster analytics."

- * Option A (GIS Server) supports feature and map services, but not cached imagery.
- * Option C (Mission Server) is for real-time operations, unrelated to imagery or features.

NEW QUESTION # 31

A GIS administrator needs to add a member to the ArcGIS Enterprise organization. This member will perform publishing and editing workflows.

Which user type and role should the member be assigned?

- A. The GIS Professional user type and the Data Editor role
- B. The Creator user type and the Publisher role
- C. The Editor user type and the Publisher role

Answer: B

Explanation:

In ArcGIS Enterprise, the Creator user type includes full privileges for content creation, sharing, and administration. When paired with the Publisher role, it grants the user the ability to publish hosted feature layers, map image layers, and other services, as well as perform editing tasks on existing data. This combination is specifically designed for users who require both publishing and editing capabilities.

The Editor user type is limited to editing and cannot publish content. The GIS Professional user type provides access to ArcGIS Pro but, when assigned the Data Editor role, restricts the user from publishing content.

Therefore, only the Creator user type with Publisher roles supports both publishing and editing workflows.

NEW QUESTION # 32

An organization publishes a map image layer to ArcGIS Enterprise that references data from a user-managed PostgreSQL geodatabase.

The schema of a table is updated to add a field, but the map service cannot be stopped due to a Service Level Agreement (SLA). Schema locking is disabled.

Even after restarting the map service and database, the new field is not shown in the REST endpoint.

Which action should the administrator perform?

- A. Clear the enterprise geodatabase cache
- B. Re-enable schema locking for the map service
- C. Republish the map service by overwriting the original
- D. Ensure that the field is made visible by default in the ArcGIS Enterprise portal

Answer: C

Explanation:

Map image layers (map services) do not automatically detect schema changes, especially in registered enterprise geodatabases. Even with schema locking disabled, services cache the original schema at the time of publishing. To reflect the new field, you must overwrite the existing service.

From ArcGIS Server documentation:

"If the schema of a dataset is changed after a service is published (such as adding a field), the change is not automatically reflected in the service. You must overwrite the service or republish the map to reflect schema updates."

* Option B is not applicable; field visibility in the portal reflects what's in the published service definition.

* Option C is related to editing access, not field visibility.

* Option D is not a valid administrative action in this context.

NEW QUESTION # 33

A GIS administrator works for the Department of Transportation. Users need to analyze decades of traffic and crash data to determine the interstates with the most incidents. They will also analyze when certain vehicles were speeding and braking, and then correlate this data with vehicular accident locations.

Which server must be configured to support this workflow?

- A. Notebook Server
- B. GeoEvent Server
- C. GeoAnalytics Server

Answer: C

Explanation:

ArcGIS GeoAnalytics Server is designed to perform distributed analysis on large volumes of spatial and temporal data. It is particularly suited for workflows that involve analyzing patterns over time and space, such as identifying interstates with the most incidents over decades and correlating vehicle behavior (like speeding and braking) with accident locations.

GeoAnalytics Server provides tools for aggregating data, detecting incidents, and reconstructing tracks, which are essential for understanding complex transportation datasets. Its distributed computing framework allows for efficient processing of big data, making it the appropriate choice for the described workflow.

GeoEvent Server (Option B) is primarily used for real-time data processing and event detection, which is not the focus of this analysis. Notebook Server (Option C) supports interactive data science and analysis workflows using Jupyter notebooks but does not provide the same level of performance and scalability for big data analysis as GeoAnalytics Server.

NEW QUESTION # 34

A GIS analyst is running raster analysis in the ArcGIS Enterprise portal Map Viewer. The input data is an image layer, but the output of the raster analysis is a feature layer.

Which ArcGIS Server will host the output feature service?

- A. ArcGIS Image Hosting Server site
- B. ArcGIS Hosting Server site
- C. ArcGIS Raster Analytics Server site

Answer: A
