APMG-International Agile Project Management (AgilePM) Foundation Exam Sample Questions (Q147-Q152):

NEW QUESTION # 147

When should the quality of the evolving solution first be tested?

- A. At the end of each increment
- B. As part of the iterative Development process
- C. At the end of a project.
- D. At the end of a Timebox

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 148

During what DSDM phase is it established how quality will be assured?

- A. As part of Foundations
- B. At the start of Evolutionary Development
- C. During each timebox during Evolutionary Development
- D. During Feasibility

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Foundations phase is when it is established how quality will be assured⁴. This phase builds upon the preliminary investigation from the Feasibility phase to establish a fundamental understanding of the business rationale for the project and how the development and delivery of the solution will be managed, including quality assurance measures⁴.

NEW QUESTION # 149

Which statement applies to the DSDM process?

- A. Does not require the elaboration of supporting products for complex projects
- B. Can be configured and calibrated to cater for light or strong governance
- C. Provides an approach that can be used for all projects without change
- D. DSDM projects can deliver the phases in the DSDM process in any order

Answer: B

Explanation:

The DSDM process can indeed be configured and calibrated to cater for a range of projects, from those requiring light governance to those needing stronger governance¹. This flexibility allows the DSDM process to be tailored to the specific needs of the project, ensuring that the right balance between control and agility is achieved¹.

NEW QUESTION # 150

In combination with Scrum, what does AgilePM provide for Scrum Masters?

- A. A set of practices, tools, techniques, and methods to enhance the use of Scrum
- B. A framework that helps teams generate value through adaptive solutions for complex problems
- C. An opportunity to serve the organization by leading, training, and coaching the organization in its Scrum adoption
- D. An incremental and evolutionary approach to product development that evolves with time

Answer: A

Explanation:

Scrum supplies the core framework (roles, events, artifacts) for empirically building products, but it is intentionally lightweight. AgilePM (based on DSDM) complements Scrum by offering a well-tested pool of practices, tools, and techniques that strengthen day-to-day delivery and governance without altering Scrum's essence. Typical enhancements include MoSCoW prioritization to manage variable scope, timeboxing to protect cadence, facilitated workshops and modeling to accelerate shared understanding, and explicit roles for business involvement to improve decision flow. AgilePM also provides guidance on project-level controls-such as business cases, incremental release planning, and benefits focus-that sit outside Scrum's product-delivery scope. For a Scrum Master, this combination is valuable: Scrum remains the engine of iterative delivery, while AgilePM offers practical methods to refine backlog refinement, clarify acceptance criteria, manage dependencies, and support predictable delivery against time and cost constraints. Thus, the pairing gives Scrum Masters a richer toolkit to coach teams, align stakeholders, and handle real-world project contexts where governance, prioritization, and incremental release structures are needed-precisely what option B describes.

NEW QUESTION # 151

Where should the specific measures be recorded, to check whether the beneficiary of a User Story can use it?

- A. Context
- B. Conversation
- C. Confirmation
- D. Criteria

Answer: C

Explanation:

In agile practice, a User Story is often framed by the "3 Cs": Card, Conversation, and Confirmation. The Card captures just enough of the requirement to spark dialogue. The Conversation is the collaborative discussion among Product Owner (or Customer/Business), Developers, and other stakeholders that elaborates details and clarifies intent. The Confirmation element records the specific, testable acceptance criteria that will be used to verify the story delivers the intended outcome for its beneficiary (the user or customer). These acceptance criteria translate stakeholder expectations into objective checks-often articulated as scenarios or examples-that determine whether the story is fit for purpose and "Done." Agile Project Management approaches (including AgilePM/DSDM and Scrum-aligned practices) emphasize that acceptance criteria belong with the story as its Confirmation, because that is what allows the team to assert value delivery, guide development and testing, and anchor Sprint Review demonstrations. Therefore, the appropriate place to record the concrete measures by which a user can successfully use the delivered capability is the Confirmation section of the User Story.
