APICS Certified in Planning and Inventory Management (CPIM 8.0) Sample Questions (Q150-Q155):

NEW QUESTION # 150

The horizon for forecasts that are input to the sales and operations planning (S&OP) process should be long enough that:

- A. supply constraints can be resolved.
- B. cumulative forecast deviation approaches zero.
- C. required resources can be properly planned.
- D. planned product launches can be incorporated.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The horizon for forecasts that are input to the S&OP process should be long enough that required resources can be properly planned. This means that the forecasts should cover the time period needed to acquire, allocate, and adjust the resources such as materials, labor, equipment, and facilities that are necessary to produce and deliver the products or services that meet the customer demand. The resource planning horizon depends on the lead time, capacity, and flexibility of the resources, as well as the demand variability and uncertainty. A longer horizon allows for more accurate and proactive resource planning, which can improve the efficiency, effectiveness, and profitability of the S&OP process<sup>12</sup>. #### NEW QUESTION # 151

The question below is based on the following alternative schedules for a lot of 1,200.

A company works 8-hour, single-shift days. Setups are 4 hours for Operation 20 and 4 hours for Operation 40.

Each operation has multiple machines available.

Which of the following statements is correct?

- A. Lot splitting results in the shortest overall lead time.
- B. Operation overlapping results in reduced total span time.
- C. Lot splitting results in reduced total setup costs.
- D. Operation overlapping results in reduced total setup costs.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Lot splitting is the technique of dividing a lot into smaller sub-lots that can be processed concurrently, especially when multiple machines are available. This strategy significantly reduces overall lead time by processing portions in parallel instead of sequentially.

"Lot splitting results in the shortest overall lead time... reduces total span time."

NEW QUESTION # 152

An organization routes traffic between two of its sites using non-revenue network paths provided by peers on an Internet exchange point. What is the MOST appropriate recommendation the organization's security staff can make to prevent a compromise?

- A. Cease routing traffic over the Internet exchange point and use the transit provider exclusively.
- B. Use Internet Protocol Security (IPsec) between the border gateways at either site.
- C. Nothing needs to be done because applications are already required to encrypt and authenticate network traffic.
- D. Ask the peers who route the traffic to sign a Non-Disclosure Agreement (NDA).

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 153

In a rapidly changing business environment, a primary advantage of an effective customer relationship management (CRM) program is:

- A. earlier identification of shifts in customer preferences.
- B. fewer customer order changes.
- C. fewer customer defections.
- D. reduced forecast variability.

Answer: A

Explanation:

In a rapidly changing business environment, a primary advantage of an effective customer relationship management (CRM) program is earlier identification of shifts in customer preferences. CRM is a strategy that focuses on building and maintaining long-term relationships with customers by understanding their needs, preferences, and behaviors. CRM enables organizations to anticipate and respond to changes in customer demand, improve customer satisfaction and loyalty, and increase profitability and competitiveness. CRM also helps organizations to segment and target customers based on their value and potential, and to customize products and services accordingly. CRM involves the use of various tools and techniques, such as data collection and analysis, communication channels, feedback mechanisms, and loyalty programs. References:
