NEW QUESTION # 37

Why is governance crucial in balancing the speed of adoption with risk control in cybersecurity initiatives?

- A. Ensures alignment between global compliance standards
- B. Speeds up project execution irrespective of and focuses on systemic risk
- C. Only involves senior management in decision-making
- D. Ensures adequate risk management while allowing innovation

Answer: D

Explanation:

Governance in cybersecurity is crucial because it provides the framework to ensure that security risks are adequately managed while still allowing the organization to adopt new technologies and innovations at a reasonable pace. Effective governance helps organizations balance the need for security controls with the need for agility and speed in adopting new solutions. It ensures that risks are identified, assessed, and mitigated without unnecessarily slowing down progress or stifling innovation.

Without governance, there is a risk that security concerns may be overlooked, or too many restrictions might be placed on adoption, leading to delays or failure to innovate. Proper governance strikes the right balance between security and agility.
