Appian Senior Developer Sample Questions (Q42-Q47):

NEW QUESTION # 42

An application consists of a record type with sync enabled. This record type is used as a source to create a read-only grid. A field "Number of days since created" is configured in the interface and a logic is implemented to calculate the number of days since a record is created in the application. You need to implement sorting on this field. What should you do?

- A. Create a custom record type field and use it in the sorting configuration.
- B. Add sortField: "Number of days since created" configuration for the gridColumn that needs to be sorted.
- C. Sorting is not possible on custom record type fields. Instead, create a view with a custom field and use the field from the view for sorting.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Creating a custom record type field to calculate "Number of days since created" allows you to use this field in the sorting configuration of your read-only grid.

NEW QUESTION # 43

Which two options are correct regarding record relationships when using synced records in your application? (Choose two.)

- A. Relationships can be established between any record types that have sync enabled, regardless of the source.
- B. Up to 20 relationships can be added on a record type with data sync enabled.
- C. Many-to-one relationships can be established using record relationships.
- D. Record type relationships enforce referential integrity.

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Many-to-one relationships can be established between record types using record relationships.

Up to 20 relationships can be added to a record type with data sync enabled, according to Appian platform limits.

NEW QUESTION # 44

You need to create a web API so that an external system can start a process in your app. Which two statements are true about using a service account to authenticate the system? (Choose two.)

- A. The service account must be configured from within the web API object.
- B. The service account is created as any other object in Appian.
- C. The service account must be a user in the Service Accounts group.
- D. The service account must be granted access to that web API via group management.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

The service account must be granted access to the web API, typically via group management, to allow authenticated calls.

The service account must be a user in the Service Accounts group to be used for authentication in integrations such as web APIs.

NEW QUESTION # 45

You need to configure your process model to store the result of an expression rule for every item in a list. Your design must have the smallest memory footprint. What should you do?

- A. Execute MNI over a script task for each item in the list.

- Answer: B

Configuring a script task to use `forEach()` to iterate over each item in the list allows you to process all items within a single task, minimizing the memory footprint compared to multiple subprocesses or smart service loops.

Each log type will be used once or not at all. To change your responses, you may deselect your response by clicking the blank space at the top of the selection list.
