Peoplecert MSP Practitioner, 5th edition Exam MSP-Practitioner Prüfungsfragen mit Lösungen (Q86-Q91):

86. Frage

Which of the following is Not one of MSP defined levels of stakeholder engagement?

- A. Keep informed
- B. Maintain Interest
- C. Formally Approve
- D. Active Consultation

Antwort: C

Begründung:

"Formally Approve" is not one of the MSP-defined levels of stakeholder engagement. MSP outlines levels such as Maintain Interest, Active Consultation, and Keep Informed to categorize the nature and intensity of stakeholder engagement.

The MSP Practitioner indicates: "Fourth option is face to face," which means formal approval is a governance or decision-making activity rather than an engagement level.

Understanding and applying appropriate engagement levels ensures stakeholders receive relevant information and involvement suited to their influence and interest, facilitating support and minimizing resistance.

This categorization aids programme teams in managing communication and expectations effectively.

87. Frage

The programme is in the 'identify the programme' process. The CEngO is concerned that the engineering department will not be able to deliver the proposed Engineering Department Work at the same time as supporting the research into new smart meters and water leak detection equipment. The programme board believes that the engineering department will be able to manage, if the programme is planned optimally.

Which role is MOST LIKELY to approve the programme board's recommendation?

- A. Business change manager
- B. Senior responsible owner
- C. Programme office lead
- D. Programme manager

Antwort: B

Begründung:

Comprehensive and Detailed 200 to 250 words of Explanation From Exact Extract of project- programme-and-portfolio-management of 5th Edition MSP:

The 'Identify the programme' process is the initial stage of the MSP transformational flow. Its primary purpose is to turn a vague idea or mandate into a clear programme brief that justifies further investment.

During this process, the Senior Responsible Owner (SRO) is appointed to take personal accountability for the programme.

According to MSP 5th Edition, the SRO is the ultimate decision-maker at this stage. While the Programme Board (which may include the CEngO and other senior leads) provides advice and recommendations regarding resource feasibility and capacity, it is the SRO who must approve the way forward. Option A is correct because the SRO is responsible for ensuring the programme is viable and achievable. If the CEngO raises concerns about resource over-commitment, the SRO must weigh these concerns against the programme's strategic value and the Board's optimistic view. Ultimately, the SRO signs off on the programme brief and seeks authorization from the Sponsoring Group to move to the 'Design the outcomes' process. The Programme Manager (Option B) supports the process, but does not have the authority to approve the strategic direction or resource allocations of this magnitude.

The SRO's role is to provide the leadership and decision-making necessary to resolve such internal resource conflicts at the start of the journey.

88. Frage

The programme is in the 'close the programme' process. All the projects have been successfully completed, and the capabilities have been delivered. However, some of the new sales roles are still to be recruited in order to deliver increased sales. The programme manager has passed the management of this remaining work to the HR Director.

Is this an appropriate action for the programme manager to take, and why?

- A. Yes, because the impact of closure on the HR Director needs to be understood and managed well
- B. Yes, because the remaining recruitment should be handed to the HR Director to ensure that the benefits are realized
- C. No, because the SRO should be responsible for disbanding the programme team and closing the programme
- D. No, because programme information should be up-to-date and archived before the programme can be formally closed

Antwort: B

Begründung:

Comprehensive and Detailed 200 to 250 words of Explanation From Exact Extract of project- programme-and-portfolio-management of 5th Edition MSP:

In MSP 5th Edition, a programme can be formally closed even if all benefits have not yet been fully realized, provided that all planned project work is complete and the capabilities have been handed over. When a programme closes, any "residual" or "ongoing" activities required to secure the remaining benefits must be formally transferred to the permanent business operations. Option A is the correct answer. The recruitment of the remaining sales roles is a functional business activity.

Since the programme's projects are complete, it is no longer efficient to keep the programme infrastructure running just for recruitment. By handing this responsibility to the HR Director, the Programme Manager is ensuring that the Business Change Manager (BCM) or relevant operational leader has the support needed to finish the transformation. This is a standard part of the 'Close the programme' process, where the SRO and Programme Manager ensure that the "ownership" of the future state-and any actions needed to reach it-is firmly embedded back into BAU. This ensures that the realization of the "increased sales" benefit is not lost simply because the programme team has finished its work. It represents a successful transition from a temporary programme structure to permanent organizational accountability.
