CIPS Category Management Sample Questions (Q10-Q15):

NEW QUESTION # 10

Category Strategy Development is composed of 4 key stages. Which of the following is the correct order?

- A. Create strategic plan, develop progress tracking plan, define resources needed, roadshow
- B. Develop progress tracking plan, define resources needed, create strategic plan, roadshow
- C. Develop progress tracking plan, define resources needed, roadshow, create strategic plan
- D. Roadshow, create strategic plan, define resources needed, develop progress tracking plan

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct sequence of Category Strategy Development is:

- * Create the strategic plan - outlining objectives, tactics, and desired outcomes.
- * Develop a progress tracking plan - defining performance measures and milestones.
- * Define resources needed - identifying staff, skills, and financial support required.
- * Conduct a roadshow - presenting the strategy to stakeholders and gaining buy-in.

This order ensures strategies are clearly defined before resources are committed and that tracking mechanisms are in place to measure success. The roadshow is critical to gain organisational support and alignment, ensuring all stakeholders understand the plan and contribute to its implementation. Mis-sequencing these steps can result in wasted resources, poor engagement, or ineffective execution. Category managers must follow this structured approach to maintain accountability, transparency, and long-term success in strategy implementation.

NEW QUESTION # 11

Jonah is a Procurement Specialist responsible for a sub-category of work which includes procuring skilled labour for construction. Sub-categories can also be known as what within a Category?

- A. Sets
- B. Lots
- C. Divisions
- D. Commodities

Answer: D

Explanation:

Within Category Management, sub-categories are often referred to as commodities. These are narrower groupings within a category that focus on specific goods or services. For example, within the Construction category, commodities might include raw materials, subcontracted labour, or specialist equipment hire.

Recognising commodities helps procurement apply tailored strategies that address their specific market dynamics and risk profiles. It also provides clarity when developing category plans, as different commodities may require different sourcing and supplier management approaches. By managing at both category and commodity levels, organisations can strike a balance between broad strategic alignment and detailed tactical execution.

NEW QUESTION # 12

Joan is a Category Manager at a packaging plant. She is creating a profile of the category she manages in order to identify the spend category. By obtaining data on her Category, which of the following will Joan be able to do?

- A. Benchmarking
- B. Prepare projections and budgets for the future
- C. Find alternative suppliers
- D. Competitive supplier selection

Answer: B

Explanation:

The first stage of Kearney's 7 Step Model is profiling the category, where data is gathered about spend, suppliers, and demand. This profiling provides the foundation for preparing future projections and budgets.

It ensures that procurement understands not only how much is currently being spent, but also the likely future requirements of the organisation. While finding alternative suppliers and benchmarking may emerge later in the process, the primary outcome of category profiling is reliable information for budgeting and strategic decision-making. This stage links procurement with financial planning and helps build business cases for category strategies. Without accurate data profiling, subsequent sourcing strategies may be flawed.

NEW QUESTION # 13

'Kaizen' is a Japanese term used frequently in the manufacturing industry. What does it refer to?

- A. Cost Reduction
- B. Continuous Improvement
- C. Supplier Relationship Management
- D. Sustainability

Answer: B

Explanation:

Kaizen translates to "continuous improvement" in Japanese. It is a philosophy that encourages making small, incremental changes that collectively lead to significant performance enhancements over time. Within procurement and category management, Kaizen focuses on ongoing collaboration with suppliers to identify ways to reduce waste, improve quality, and optimise processes. Unlike one-off cost-reduction initiatives, Kaizen is embedded in the organisational culture and requires engagement from all levels of the supply chain.

For example, small adjustments in packaging design might reduce material use, leading to cost savings and environmental benefits. This approach fosters long-term supplier partnerships and supports innovation. In competitive markets, organisations that adopt Kaizen are more resilient and adaptable, making it a key concept for category managers to understand.

NEW QUESTION # 14

Claudio wants to limit risks from supplier financial instability. Which two actions are most effective?

- A. Have contingency plans in place
- B. Contract smaller businesses and start-ups
- C. Use fewer suppliers
- D. Limit spend with one supplier to 30% of external spend

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

The most effective approaches are:

* Limiting dependence on one supplier [B]: CIPS suggests no more than 30% of spend should be concentrated with a single supplier. This reduces exposure if that supplier becomes insolvent or fails to deliver.

* Having contingency plans [D]: Preparing alternative suppliers, safety stock, or emergency logistics ensures continuity in case of failure.

Options A and C are poor practices:

* Using fewer suppliers [A]: Increases dependency, making the business more vulnerable.

* Using small start-ups exclusively [C]: Increases risk because these firms often lack financial stability.

These strategies align with broader supply risk management principles, which focus on diversification, resilience, and proactive planning. Effective category managers must balance efficiency with risk reduction, ensuring supply continuity without over-consolidating.
