NEW QUESTION # 203

Which HTML element can be used as a root tag for a Lightning Web Component 's HTML file?

- A. <html >
- B. <article >
- C. <body >
- D. <template >

Answer: D

Explanation:

In Lightning Web Components (LWC), the root tag for the component's HTML file must be `<template>`.

This tag defines the markup structure for the component and is essential for the LWC framework to correctly render the component in the Salesforce Lightning Experience. The `<template>` tag is unique to LWC and is not interchangeable with standard HTML tags like `<body>`, `<article>`, or `<html>`. For more information, see the Salesforce LWC documentation: Salesforce LWC HTML Templates Documentation.

NEW QUESTION # 204

Which two scoped modules should a developer import in Lightning web components to check user permissions?

- A. `@salesforce/customPermission`
- B. `@salesforce/userPermission`
- C. `@salesforce/hasPermission`
- D. `@salesforce/permission`

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Explanation

To check user permissions in Lightning web components, a developer should import two scoped modules:

`@salesforce/permission` and `@salesforce/customPermission`. The `@salesforce/permission` module allows the developer to check if the user has access to a standard permission, such as View Setup or Modify All Data.

The `@salesforce/customPermission` module allows the developer to check if the user has access to a custom permission, such as Enable Debug Mode or Manage Orders. The other modules do not exist or are not related to user permissions. Salesforce

NEW QUESTION # 205

A configuration value, `CO.NewOrder`, is set to `TRUE`. What is one way of preventing an existing payment page from being shown on the checkout payment page?

- A. Remove the value matching the page name from the `pmt.whitelist` configuration setting, then rebuild and activate a new Configuration cache
- B. Delete the Visualforce page from the code base.
- C. Override the front end template and modify the way the embedded payment page gets loaded from the payment list configuration.
- D. Remove the payment type associated with the payment page from `CO.pmts`, then rebuild and activate a new cache.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

One way of preventing an existing payment page from being shown on the checkout payment page is to remove the payment type associated with the payment page from `CO.pmts`, then rebuild and activate a new cache. This will exclude the payment type from the list of available payment options on the checkout page.

The other options are either not feasible or not effective in hiding the payment page. Salesforce References: B2B Commerce and D2C Commerce Developer Guide, Payment Configuration Settings

NEW QUESTION # 206

What is likely to happen if a developer leaves debug mode turned on in an environment?

- A. The org will turn off debug mode after 72 hours
- B. The performance of the org will become slower each day
- C. The user will begin getting JavaScript limit exceptions
- D. A banner will be displayed to the user indicating that the org is in debug mode

Answer: C

Explanation:

If a developer leaves debug mode turned on in an environment, the user will begin getting JavaScript limit exceptions. Debug mode is a setting that enables more detailed logging and error reporting for Lightning web components. However, it also increases the size and complexity of the JavaScript code that is delivered to the browser, which can cause performance issues and JavaScript limit exceptions. The JavaScript limit exceptions are errors that occur when the browser reaches its maximum capacity for executing JavaScript code, such as memory heap size or script execution time. The performance of the org will not become slower each day, as debug mode only affects the client-side performance, not the server-side performance. The org will not turn off debug mode after 72 hours, as debug mode is a persistent setting that can only be changed manually by an administrator. A banner will not be displayed to the user indicating that the org is in debug mode, as debug mode is a transparent setting that does not affect the user interface. NEW QUESTION # 207

What is a valid way of referencing the global `cc_api_CartExtension` apex class via subscriber code?

- A. `ccrz_cc_api_CartExtension`
- B. `cloudcraze.cc_api_CartExtension`
- C. `c_cc_api_CartExtension`
- D. `ccrz.cc_api_CartExtension`

Answer: D

Explanation:

A valid way of referencing the global `cc_api_CartExtension` apex class via subscriber code is to use `ccrz.cc_api_CartExtension`. This is the name of the class that is defined in the cloudcraze managed package. The class is global, so it can be accessed by subscriber code. The other options are either invalid or incorrect.
