PMI Cognitive Project Management in AI CPMAI v7 - Training & Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q92-Q97):

NEW QUESTION # 92
Your team is starting a new facial recognition project and you want to ensure that the project is being done with Trustworthy AI in mind. At what phase of CPMAI would Trustworthy AI be considered?

- A. Phase VI
- B. All phases
- C. Phase IV
- D. Phase III
- E. Phase II
- F. None of the phases
- G. Phase V

- H. Phase I

Answer: B

Explanation:
Trustworthy AI is not confined to a single phase but is woven throughout the entire CPMAI lifecycle:
The CPMAI Exam Content Outline under Domain VI: Trustworthy AI specifies tasks such as "Apply ethical AI concepts throughout the development lifecycle," "Ensure compliance with privacy/security requirements," and "Implement transparency and explainability" at every stage .
The CPMAI Workbook's Task Group: Trustworthy AI Requirements (covering transparency, explainability, ethics, compliance, and responsible-AI frameworks) appears as an overarching set of artifacts and considerations that map back to multiple phases-beginning with Business Understanding and continuing through Model Operationalization .
Thus, Trustworthy AI considerations apply across all CPMAI phases.

NEW QUESTION # 93
Your team is working on an AI-enabled chatbot to be placed on the website. The goal of the chatbot is to be able to answer questions 24/7 to service clients around the globe. When evaluating your data you realize you don't have enough data to train the model.
What's the best course of action?

- A. Do not move forward with the project
- B. Research what Third-Party Models are available and purchase them to keep the project moving
- C. Use the data that you have and keep the project moving
- D. Ask your customer service team to generate additional data for you to use for the project

Answer: B

Explanation:
In Phase II: Data Understanding, the Pre-Trained and Third-Party Model Usage task directs teams to "determine if team will use a model...developed by another team, or by a third-party organization" and to gather information about
"costs to use model, origin of data and methods of training, performance measures, and other factors that will determine appropriateness of model" before proceeding . When in-house data is insufficient, leveraging existing third-party models is the recommended path to avoid project stall.

NEW QUESTION # 94
Your team is working on a new loan decision model that takes a number of factors and data points into consideration and then automatically approves or denies a loan. After a month in operation someone does a review and notices that the system is denying a large number of loans from a certain demographic when all other factors from people in other regions (such as age, salary, and credit score) are the same.
What is most likely happening here?

- A. Biased data sets leading to algorithmic discrimination
- B. Generative AI models hallucinating data results
- C. Nothing is wrong, algorithmic decisions will never be 100%
- D. Data privacy issues leading to data sharing concerns

Answer: A

Explanation:
When training data under-represents or skews certain groups, the resulting model can systematically discriminate against those groups-a phenomenon termed algorithmic discrimination in the CPMAI Glossary.
Such bias in outcomes arises directly from biased training data.
Moreover, the CPMAI Exam Content Outline emphasizes that Trustworthy AI must apply laws pertaining to AI ethics, bias, and fairness to detect and remediate these issues early in the lifecycle.

NEW QUESTION # 95

Recently, you implemented an augmented intelligence application at work to help employees do their job better. However, employees have been resistant to this change and aren't using the application as expected.

What could have been done better to get the team to feel comfortable with this technology and use it? (Select all that apply.)

- A. Ask end users what information and technology they need to help them do their job better and build the tool to help with these pain points.
- B. Have the team that built the technology relay to employees this tool is to augment, and not replace their jobs.
- C. Have upper management relay to employees this tool is to augment, and not replace their jobs.
- D. Provide training for everyone to have all employees feel more comfortable using the technology even if they aren't using the technology yet.

Answer: A,B,C,D

Explanation:
The Continuous Improvement and Respect for People principle in CPMAI stresses involving end users early- gathering their pain points (A), clarifying that AI will augment rather than replace roles (B & C), and providing thorough training to build confidence (D). Engaging stakeholders throughout the project lifecycle and prioritizing user-centered design are key to adoption.

NEW QUESTION # 96
An inexperienced team is training a neural network model on a desktop computer and this is taking a significant amount of time. What would you recommend to them to speed up model training?

- A. Train the model on GPUs
- B. Train the model over multiple desktop computers
- C. Use a contractor to do the training portion
- D. Break the dataset up into multiple smaller datasets and train the model on each of the smaller datasets over a desktop computer

Answer: A

Explanation:
Training deep neural networks on CPUs is very slow. CPMAI's Glossary highlights that tensor processing units (TPUs) and GPUs are specialized hardware accelerators explicitly recommended to "accelerate the training and inference of machine learning models" by parallelizing the heavy matrix operations in neural- network layers. Switching from desktop CPU training to GPU-based training can reduce training time by orders of magnitude.
