WGU Financial Management VBC1 Sample Questions (Q28-Q33):

NEW QUESTION # 28

What is the goal of just-in-time (JIT) inventory management?

- A. To increase the quantity of on-hand inventory
- B. To minimize holding costs by reducing inventory levels
- C. To extend the cash conversion cycle
- D. To maximize the storage space utilized

Answer: B

Explanation:

Just-in-time (JIT) inventory management aims to minimize inventory levels by synchronizing production and deliveries closely with demand. By receiving materials only when needed, firms reduce holding costs such as storage, insurance, spoilage, and obsolescence. JIT also improves cash flow by freeing capital previously tied up in inventory and shortening the cash conversion cycle. Financial management literature highlights JIT as a strategy that enhances efficiency but requires reliable suppliers and precise demand forecasting. Option B accurately captures the core objective of JIT systems.

NEW QUESTION # 29

In the capital asset pricing model (CAPM), what does a beta (β) greater than 1 signify for a portfolio?

- A. The portfolio has more risk than the market.
- B. The portfolio is expected to move in the opposite direction of the market.
- C. The portfolio will always outperform the market.
- D. The portfolio has less risk than the market.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Within the CAPM framework, beta quantifies the degree of systematic risk relative to the market portfolio, which by definition has a beta of 1. A portfolio with a beta greater than 1 carries more systematic risk than the market, meaning its returns are expected to be more sensitive to market movements. This higher sensitivity increases both upside potential and downside exposure. According to CAPM, investors require a higher expected return for bearing this additional risk. Importantly, a higher beta does not guarantee superior performance; it simply reflects greater volatility relative to the market. Option B accurately captures this risk-based interpretation.

NEW QUESTION # 30

How does asset tangibility affect a company's capital structure?

- A. By influencing the company's decision to enter new markets
- B. By influencing the company's ability to secure debt financing
- C. By influencing the company's dividend payout ratio
- D. By influencing the company's ability to issue convertible bonds

Answer: B

Explanation:

Asset tangibility directly affects a firm's ability to obtain debt financing because lenders prefer collateral-backed loans. Firms with higher tangible assets face lower borrowing constraints and typically carry higher leverage. This relationship is well documented in capital structure research and financial management textbooks. Tangible assets reduce credit risk and expected losses in default, allowing firms to raise debt more easily and at lower cost. Option B correctly captures this core capital structure relationship.

NEW QUESTION # 31

Why might tax expense on the income statement not reflect the actual taxes paid by a firm?

- A. Because tax expense is never an estimation and not based on real figures
- B. Because there are differences between tax and accrual accounting rules
- C. Because all tax expenses on the income statement accurately reflect taxes paid
- D. Because tax expenses are always deferred to the next fiscal year

Answer: B

Explanation:

Tax expense reported on the income statement is calculated using accrual accounting, which recognizes revenues and expenses when they are earned or incurred, not necessarily when cash is paid. In contrast, actual taxes paid are based on tax laws and cash payments made to tax authorities. Differences arise due to temporary and permanent timing differences between financial reporting rules and tax regulations. Examples include depreciation methods, revenue recognition timing, loss carryforwards, and deferred tax assets or liabilities. These differences cause tax expense to diverge from cash taxes paid in a given period. Financial managers and analysts must understand this distinction to accurately assess cash flows, particularly when forecasting free cash flow or valuing firms. Option A correctly explains this discrepancy, whereas the other options either deny the existence of differences or incorrectly characterize tax expense accounting.

NEW QUESTION # 32

Which group does the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) work with closely to oversee broker- dealers?

- A. The Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA)
- B. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC)
- C. The Federal Reserve
- D. The Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC)

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) is the primary federal regulator of U.S. securities markets, but it works closely with self-regulatory organizations to oversee market participants. The Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) is the main self-regulatory organization responsible for supervising broker- dealers, enforcing rules, and protecting investors. FINRA operates under SEC oversight, creating a layered regulatory framework that combines government authority with industry-specific expertise. This collaboration enhances market integrity and investor protection. Option C correctly identifies FINRA as the SEC's primary partner in broker-dealer oversight.
