Salesforce Certified B2C Commerce Architect Sample Questions (Q53-Q58):

NEW QUESTION # 53

The Client plans to deploy a new payment provider and Order Management System on its existing B2C Commerce website. They have asked an Architect to advise which environment it should use to conduct load testing of its new integrations. Which environment should be used as the ideal environment for this kind of load test?

- A. The Production Instance of a rental Realm
- B. The Development Instance of a rental Realm
- C. The Development Instance of the existing Realm.
- D. The Production instance of the existing Realm

Answer: C

Explanation:

For conducting load testing of new integrations with a payment provider and Order Management System, it is recommended to use the Development Instance of the existing Realm (Option B). This approach ensures that any issues found during testing do not affect the live production environment, while still allowing tests to be conducted in an environment that mirrors the production setup as closely as possible. This minimizes the risk of disruptive downtime or customer-facing errors when the integration goes live.

NEW QUESTION # 54

During a load test the storefront shows steady but slow performance on all the pages being tested. The Architect opens Pipeline Profiler and sorts the data by *total time" column. The following come as the top Ave items:

Controller Name	Function Name	Hits	Total Time	Average Time	Minimum Time	Maximum Time
Product	Detail	38,880	23,606,640	607	39	2,311
Search	Show	32,400	15,030,360	464	107	1,143
Home	IncludeHeaderMenu	5,184	10,776,564	2,079	2,056	2,200
Product	HitTile	229,760	7,944,480	33	10	245
Product	ShowInCategory	38,880	2,663,280	69	33	100

Which controller should the Architect focus on to further investigate the performance issue?

- A. Product-HitTile as it has the highest hits during the load test.
- B. Product-Detail as It has the highest total time and highest maximum time.
- C. Home-IncludeHeaderMenu as It has highest average time.
- D. Search Show as this Is one of the key controllers that the customer uses

Answer: B

Explanation:

Focusing on the 'Product-Detail' controller is prudent given that it has the highest total time and the highest maximum time (Answer C), suggesting that it significantly contributes to the overall load and potential slowdowns on the site. By analyzing and optimizing this controller, the architect can potentially achieve the most substantial improvement in performance. Efforts might include optimizing database queries, caching frequently requested data, or simplifying complex logic in the Product-Detail page's processing.

NEW QUESTION # 55

A Client has automated builds that deploy the code; however, recent builds started failing with compilation issues, which are not reproducible in developer's environment.

What first step needs to be taken to identify and fix the issue?

- A. Recreate the job in the build server to verify compilation issues.
- B. Clean up build server work space and run job again.
- C. Verify the generated JavaScript and CSS for the build.
- D. Verify the modules versions used to generate the code.

Answer: B

Explanation:

When facing build failures that are not reproducible in developers' environments, a common and effective first step is to clean up the build server workspace (Answer A). This action clears any residual files, settings, or data that might be influencing the build process and causing discrepancies between local and server builds. By resetting the workspace to a clean state, it helps ensure that the build process is starting from a consistent base, potentially resolving issues caused by stale data or corrupted build artifacts. This step often resolves hidden configuration or environment-specific issues that are not immediately apparent in the code or module versions.

NEW QUESTION # 56

A Retailer has a single storefront site and a Product Management System (PIM). The PIM is generating the master catalog and storefront categorization catalog every day and it uploading them to SFTP. How should the Architect configure the import job flows following the best practices?

- A. 1st flow is global to download the files from SFTP. 2nd flow is global to import the storefront catalog. 3rd flow is global to import the master catalog.
- B. 1st flow is assigned to the site to download the files from SFTP. 2nd flow is assigned to the site to import the master catalog. 3rd flow is global to import the storefront catalog.
- C. 1st flow is assigned to the site to download the files from SFTP. 2nd flow is assigned to the site to import the storefront catalog. 3rd flow is global to import the master catalog.
- D. 1st flow is global to download the files from SFTP. 2nd flow is global to import the master catalog. 3rd flow is global to import the storefront catalog.

Answer: A

Explanation:

For optimal job flow concerning data import from a PIM system, the sequence should begin with downloading files globally from an SFTP site, followed by importing data into the B2C Commerce platform:

* First flow: Download files, ensuring all required files are available and ready for import.

* Second flow: Import the storefront catalog which likely has dependencies on the master catalog but is generally smaller and can be updated more rapidly.

* Third flow: Import the master catalog, as it typically contains the foundational data needed for various site functionalities.

This sequence respects data dependency and integrity, ensuring that the storefront reflects the most current and accurate information after all relevant data is imported.

NEW QUESTION # 57

A third party survey provider offers both an API endpoint for individual survey data and an SFTP server endpoint that can accept batch survey data. The initial implementation of the integration includes

1. Marking the order as requiring a survey before order placement
2. On the order confirmation page, the survey form is displayed for the customer to fill
3. The data is sent to the survey provider API, and the order is marked as not requiring a survey. Later it was identified that this solution is not fit for purpose as the following issues and additional requirements were identified:
 1. If the API call fails, the corresponding survey data is lost. The Business requires to avoid data loss.
 2. Some customers skipped the form. The Business requires sending a survey email to such customers.
 3. The Order Management System (OMS) uses a non-standard XML parser it did not manage to parse orders with the survey, until the survey attribute was manually removed from the XML.

How should the Architect address the issues and requirements described above?

- A. Create a custom object to store the survey data. Send to the API endpoint using a job. On success, remove the custom object. On failure, send the survey data with API from the next execution of the same job. Use the custom object to send emails for the cases when the survey was skipped.
- B. Create a custom session attribute when the survey is required. Send to the API endpoint in real-time. On failure, capture the survey data in the session and reprocess, use the session attribute to send emails for the cases when survey was skipped.
- C. Send the survey data to the API endpoint in real-time until the survey data is successfully captured. Instruct the OMS development team to update their XML parser, use the Order survey attribute to send emails for the cases when the survey was skipped.
- D. Create a custom object when the survey is required. Send to the API endpoint in real-time. On success, remove the object. On failure, capture the survey data in the custom object and later reprocess with a job. Use the custom object to send emails for the cases when survey was skipped.

Answer: D

Explanation:

This approach addresses all concerns: data retention, reattempt on failure, and follow-up communication. By storing survey data in a custom object, data is preserved even if the API call fails, allowing for reprocessing.

This method also facilitates sending follow-up emails by querying custom objects for surveys that were skipped, ensuring comprehensive coverage and reliability in data handling and customer engagement.
