IIA Practice of Internal Auditing Sample Questions (Q228-Q233):

NEW QUESTION # 228

According to the International Professional Practices Framework, which of the following situations is an indicator of a healthy relationship between the audit committee and the internal audit function?

- A. The chief audit executive (CAE) has direct access to the audit committee and the board but typically does not interact directly with them unless a material weakness in the control environment is identified.
- B. Whenever a potential audit finding or testing exception is first identified, the audit committee is immediately notified, as well as for any subsequent changes in the status of the engagement.
- C. The CAE sends the audit committee all communications between the internal audit department and the audit client in order to keep the audit committee up to date on the engagement.
- D. The CAE does not distribute audit reports to the audit committee. However, the audit committee is made aware of the scope and findings of audits performed.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 229

The head of customer service asked the chief audit executive (CAE) whether internal auditors could assist her staff with conducting a risk self-assessment in the customer service department. The CAE promised to meet with customer service managers, analyze relevant business processes, and come up with a proposal. Who is most likely to be the final approver of the engagement objectives and scope?

- A. The chief audit executive
- B. The board of directors
- C. Senior management of the organization
- D. The head of customer service

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 230

According to the International Professional Practices Framework, which of the following is correct regarding conducting and reporting follow-up activities by the internal audit activity (IAA)?

- A. In situations where the identified risk may have a significant impact to the business and senior management has accepted the risk, it is not necessary for the CAE to inform the board of the decision.
- B. A newly appointed auditor immediately proceeds to conduct follow-up testing based on previous work performed for the engagement and then reports the results to the chief audit executive (CAE).
- C. Due to management changes, the IAA is advised by management that no further work will be done. Further follow-up work is not required as management has accepted the related risk.
- D. Management has stopped implementing several key recommendations citing a growing disagreement with their effectiveness. The auditor communicates the situation to the CAE who then escalates the matter to senior management.

Answer: D
