CFA Institute Sustainable Investing Certificate (CFA-SIC) Exam Sample Questions (Q668-Q673):

NEW QUESTION # 668

Considering the climate-related impacts on a company's financials and the impacts of a company on the climate best describes:

- A. double materiality.
- B. financial materiality.
- C. dynamic materiality.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Double materiality refers to the concept where both the impact of climate change on a company's financials and the company's impact on the environment are considered important for decision-making. (ESGTextBook [PallasCatFin], Chapter 7, Page 325)

NEW QUESTION # 669

Which of the following best describes an Earth system that will exhibit large-scale and long-term changes when reaching critical levels of global warming?

- A. Environmental externalities
- B. Tipping elements
- C. Planetary boundaries

Answer: B

Explanation:

Tipping elements are Earth system components (e.g., ice sheets, rainforests, ocean currents) that can undergo irreversible changes when pushed past a critical threshold.

Planetary boundaries (B) set safe limits for human environmental impacts.

Environmental externalities (C) are economic costs imposed on society.

NEW QUESTION # 670

As part of executive pay structures, annual key performance indicators are most likely to be a determinant of:

- A. Pension benefits.

- B. Bonuses.
- C. Share-linked incentives.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Bonuses (Option A) are often linked to short-term key performance indicators (KPIs), including financial, operational, and ESG performance metrics. Many companies now include ESG-related KPIs (e.g., carbon footprint reduction, diversity targets, safety records) in executive bonus structures.

Option B (Pension benefits) are generally not tied to annual KPIs but rather long-term service and contribution levels.

Option C (Share-linked incentives) are usually linked to long-term performance metrics, not annual targets.

NEW QUESTION # 671

Which of the following statements about social trends is most accurate?

- A. The importance of a social trend for a country is independent of the level of its economic development
- B. Social trends have similar impacts on different sectors
- C. The impact of a social trend on companies within the same sector may differ based on each company's culture

Answer: C

Explanation:

Social trends, such as demographic shifts, diversity and inclusion, or changing consumer behavior, can impact companies differently even within the same sector. The extent of impact depends on corporate culture, business model, and regional market dynamics.

For example, two technology companies may face the same social trend (e.g., remote work demand), but their response differs based on leadership philosophy, operational strategy, and corporate values.

Option A is incorrect because different industries experience varying levels of exposure to social trends. Option B is incorrect because economic development significantly influences how social trends manifest and affect businesses.

NEW QUESTION # 672

Using surface water in a business activity is best characterized as a:

- A. positive indirect impact on biodiversity
- B. direct impact on biodiversity
- C. negative indirect impact on biodiversity

Answer: B

Explanation:

Surface Water Usage:

Using surface water in business activities directly affects the local ecosystem and biodiversity.

It can alter water levels, temperature, and flow patterns, impacting aquatic life and surrounding habitats.

Direct Impact Characteristics:

Direct impacts are those that occur as a direct result of the company's operations.

For example, drawing water from a river for industrial use can reduce water availability for fish and other aquatic organisms.

CFA ESG Investing Reference:

The Global Reporting Initiative (GRI) outlines that activities such as using surface water directly affect biodiversity, making it a direct impact.
