Cisco Implementing Cisco Enterprise Wireless Networks Sample Questions (Q58-Q63):

NEW QUESTION # 58

An engineer completed the basic installation for two Cisco CMX servers and is in the process of configuring high availability, but it fails. Which two statements about the root of the issue are true? (Choose two.)

- A. Both Cisco CMX installations are virtual.
- B. The Cisco CMX instances are installed in the same subnet.
- C. The types of the primary and secondary Cisco CMX installations differ.
- D. The sizes of the primary and secondary Cisco CMX installations differ.
- E. The delay between the primary and secondary instance is 200 ms.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

For high availability configuration in Cisco CMX servers to work correctly, both primary and secondary servers must be identical in terms of installation type (physical or virtual) and size (resources allocated like CPU, RAM). If there is a mismatch in these aspects, it can lead to failure in setting up high availability as they need to synchronize data between them seamlessly. #### NEW QUESTION # 61

A customer wants the APs in the CEO's office to have different usernames and passwords for administrative support than the other APs deployed throughout the facility. Which feature must be enabled on the WLC and APs to achieve this goal?

- A. override global credentials
- B. 802.1X supplicant credentials
- C. HTTPS access
- D. local management users

Answer: D

Explanation:

In Cisco Wireless LAN Controller (WLC) environments, the feature that allows for different usernames and passwords for administrative support on specific APs is the local management users. This feature enables the configuration of unique credentials on individual APs, separate from the global credentials used for the rest of the network. By enabling local management users, the APs in the CEO's office can have distinct administrative access controls, ensuring a higher level of security and customization.
