Which Planning Service Administrator-only feature or component can you use to perform tasks for these use cases?

- A. Version management

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 42

You must assign a Planning user with a Cloud EPM predefined role that allows them to create and administer Planning or Planning Modules and service components. This role should also allow them to grant permissions to other users.

Which of the following predefined role must you assign this Planning user?

- A. System Administrator
- B. Approvals Administrator
- C. Service Administrator

- D. Identity Role Administrator

Answer: C

Explanation:

In Oracle Planning 2024, predefined roles in Cloud EPM determine user permissions. The requirement is for a role that allows a Planning user to create and administer Planning or Planning Modules and service components, as well as grant permissions to other users. Among the options:

* A. System Administrator: Incorrect. This role exists in some Oracle systems but is not a Cloud EPM predefined role specific to Planning. It's too broad and not aligned with EPM terminology.

* B. Approvals Administrator: Incorrect. This role manages approval processes (e.g., workflows) but does not include creating/administering applications or granting permissions beyond approvals.

* C. Identity Role Administrator: Incorrect. While this role manages identity and access (e.g., assigning roles), it does not allow creating or administering Planning applications or service components.

* D. Service Administrator: Correct. The Service Administrator role in Cloud EPM allows users to create and manage Planning applications, configure modules and service components (e.g., forms, rules), and assign permissions to other users via access control.

The Service Administrator role is the highest-level predefined role in Oracle EPM Cloud for Planning, encompassing application management and user permission assignments, making it the correct choice.

NEW QUESTION # 43

In which three ways can you create data maps that copy data using Smart Push?

- A. From Financial Consolidation and Close to Planning
- B. From Planning to Tax Reporting Cloud
- C. Between two Planning instances
- D. From Planning to Financial Consolidation and Close
- E. From Tax Reporting Cloud to Planning

Answer: A,C,D

Explanation:

In Oracle Planning 2024, Smart Push is a feature within data maps that enables efficient, real-time data movement between Oracle EPM Cloud applications or instances. It copies data dynamically when triggered (e.g., via forms or rules). The three supported ways to create data maps with Smart Push are:

* A. From Planning to Tax Reporting Cloud: Incorrect. Smart Push does not support direct data movement from Planning to Tax Reporting Cloud, as these modules lack a predefined integration path for this feature.

* B. From Tax Reporting Cloud to Planning: Incorrect. Similarly, Smart Push does not facilitate data movement from Tax Reporting Cloud to Planning.

* C. From Financial Consolidation and Close to Planning: Correct. Smart Push supports moving consolidated data (e.g., actuals) from Financial Consolidation and Close (FCC) to Planning for planning purposes.

* D. From Planning to Financial Consolidation and Close: Correct. Smart Push allows pushing planned data from Planning to FCC for consolidation or reporting.

* E. Between two Planning instances: Correct. Smart Push can move data between two Planning instances (e.g., test and production environments) to synchronize data.

These three options-C, D, and E-are explicitly supported by Smart Push in Oracle EPM Cloud, as per the documentation, enabling seamless data integration across these applications.
