CompTIA Network+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q245-Q250):

NEW QUESTION # 245

A network administrator is planning to implement device monitoring to enhance network visibility. The security that the solution provides authentication and encryption. Which of the following meets these requirements?

- A. SIEM
- B. SNMPv3
- C. NetFlow
- D. Syslog

Answer: B

Explanation:

SNMPv3 (Simple Network Management Protocol version 3) provides device monitoring with authentication and encryption. This enhances network visibility and security by ensuring that monitoring data is securely transmitted and access to network devices is authenticated.

* Authentication: SNMPv3 includes robust mechanisms for authenticating users accessing network devices.

* Encryption: It provides encryption to protect the integrity and confidentiality of the data being transmitted.

* Network Management: SNMPv3 allows for detailed monitoring and management of network devices, ensuring better control and security.

Network References:

* CompTIA Network+ N10-007 Official Certification Guide: Covers SNMP versions, their features, and security enhancements in SNMPv3.

* Cisco Networking Academy: Provides training on implementing and securing SNMP for network management.

* Network+ Certification All-in-One Exam Guide: Explains the benefits and security features of SNMPv3 for network monitoring.

NEW QUESTION # 246

A network engineer is configuring network ports in a public office. To increase security, the engineer wants the ports to allow network connections only after authentication. Which of the following security features should the engineer use?

- A. MAC filtering
- B. Access control list
- C. Port security
- D. 802.1X

Answer: D

Explanation:

802.1X provides port-based Network Access Control (NAC). Ports remain in a blocked state until a device authenticates (usually with RADIUS). This is ideal for public or semi-public areas where ports should not be "always on."

A). Port security restricts by MAC addresses but does not authenticate users.

C). MAC filtering is easily spoofed and weaker than 802.1X.

D). ACLs filter traffic but do not enforce port-based authentication.

NEW QUESTION # 247

A network administrator wants to restrict inbound traffic to allow only HTTPS to the company website, denying all other inbound traffic from the internet. Which of the following would best accomplish this goal?

- A. Port security on an access switch
- B. URL filtering on an outbound proxy
- C. Content filtering on a web gateway
- D. ACL on the edge firewall

Answer: D

Explanation:

An Access Control List (ACL) configured on the edge firewall is the correct and most effective solution to filter inbound traffic. The administrator can allow TCP port 443 (HTTPS) and deny all other traffic. This is a classic firewall configuration for securing public-facing servers.

NEW QUESTION # 248

Which of the following is enforced through legislation?

- A. Code of conduct
- B. AUP
- C. EULA
- D. GDPR

Answer: D

Explanation:

GDPR (General Data Protection Regulation) is a legal framework enforced by the European Union to protect personal data and privacy. Unlike internal organizational policies such as AUPs or codes of conduct, GDPR is a legislated regulation, and organizations must comply or face legal consequences.

NEW QUESTION # 249

Which of the following technologies is the best choice to listen for requests and distribute user traffic across web servers?

- A. Load balancer
- B. Router
- C. Firewall
- D. Switch

Answer: A

Explanation:

A load balancer is designed to distribute user requests across multiple servers to ensure high availability and performance.

Breakdown of Options:

A: Router - Directs traffic between networks, not between web servers.

B: Switch - Works at Layer 2, does not distribute web traffic.

C: Firewall - Secures network traffic, but does not distribute load.

D: Load balancer - # Correct answer. Optimizes web traffic distribution across multiple servers.
