CompTIA A+ Core 1 Exam (2026) Sample Questions (Q237-Q242):

NEW QUESTION # 237

A technician is setting up a locally hosted environment for internal developers who need concurrent access to a wide array of test OSs. Which of the following would best fulfill this requirement?

- A. SaaS platform
- B. Sandbox
- C. Multiboot server computer
- D. Hypervisor

Answer: D

Explanation:

A hypervisor allows multiple operating systems to run simultaneously on a single physical host, making it the ideal solution for providing concurrent access to different test environments. Developers can use virtual machines (VMs) for testing and development. From CompTIA A+ 220-1101 Official Study Guide, Objective 3.7 - Compare and contrast cloud computing concepts:

"A hypervisor is software that enables multiple operating systems to run on a single host as virtual machines. This is commonly used in development and testing environments for flexibility and isolation." Verified Source:

NEW QUESTION # 238

Which of the following characteristics is a benefit of cloud computing?

- A. Centralized location for all global data
- B. On-demand, self-service capabilities
- C. Unmetered use regardless of demand fluctuations
- D. Limited access via custom interfaces

Answer: B

Explanation:

A key benefit and defining characteristic of cloud computing in CompTIA A+ Core 1 is on-demand, self-service. This means users or administrators can quickly provision computing resources—such as virtual machines, storage, or applications—without requiring manual intervention from the cloud provider each time.

For example, an organization can deploy a new server instance in minutes to support a new project, then scale it down or remove it when no longer needed. This improves agility, speeds up deployment, and supports rapid changes in workload.

Option A is incorrect because cloud services are typically metered (measured) and billed based on usage, which is part of the "measured service" cloud concept. Option B is incorrect because cloud data is often distributed across multiple regions for redundancy and performance; it is not inherently "centralized for all global data." Option D is incorrect because cloud services generally emphasize broad network access using standard methods and interfaces, not limited access through custom interfaces only. Therefore, on-demand, self-service capabilities best represents a cloud computing benefit.

NEW QUESTION # 239

A technician must install a printer at a corporate office for all employees to use. Which of the following is the best option?

- A. Print server
- B. Cloud printing
- C. Wi-Fi Direct
- D. Bluetooth printing

Answer: A

Explanation:

In a corporate office environment where multiple employees must share a single printer, the most efficient and manageable solution is a print server. A print server centralizes print management, queues print jobs, handles driver distribution, and provides access control. CompTIA A+ highlights print servers as the enterprise-standard method for managing shared printing resources because they ensure reliability, scalability, and better network performance.

Bluetooth printing and Wi-Fi Direct are short-range, peer-to-peer technologies meant for one-to-one or small-scale printing. They lack user authentication management, enterprise security controls, and cannot efficiently support dozens or hundreds of print requests.

simultaneously. Cloud printing requires internet reliance and external service routing, which introduces latency, potential downtime, and privacy concerns-often unsuitable for corporate networks, especially those with sensitive internal documents.

A print server allows users to connect to the printer through a standard network infrastructure (wired or wireless), and technicians can configure permissions, monitor print loads, and troubleshoot from a central location. It integrates seamlessly with enterprise directory services such as Active Directory, enabling controlled access and auditing. Because of these capabilities, the print server is the best professional-grade solution for corporate-wide printing needs.

NEW QUESTION # 240

A user is traveling internationally. They can make and receive phone calls but cannot send or receive email. Which of the following would most likely resolve this issue?

- A. Configuring 4G usage only
- B. Enabling data roaming
- C. Disabling the GPS
- D. Connecting using a hotspot

Answer: B

Explanation:

Voice calls can still go through on the partner networks without data roaming enabled, but mobile email requires a data connection. Turning on data roaming allows the device to use cellular data while abroad, restoring email functionality.

NEW QUESTION # 241

A computer displays an error message indicating there is insufficient storage when installing applications. The user reports slow application load times. Which of the following replacement components would best resolve this issue?

- A. RAM
- B. HDD
- C. SSD
- D. USB

Answer: C

Explanation:

Upgrading to a solid-state drive (SSD) provides more storage space and faster read/write speeds, which resolves both the "insufficient storage" error and slow application loads.

Option B (USB): Not intended for permanent application storage or performance improvements.

Option C (HDD): Could solve storage capacity but would not improve speed.

Option D (RAM): Affects multitasking and memory-intensive tasks, not storage capacity directly.

CompTIA A+ Core 1 Exam Objective Reference:

Objective 3.5: Given a scenario, troubleshoot problems related to storage devices.
