NBCC National Counselor Examination Sample Questions (Q123-Q128):

NEW QUESTION # 123

Which of the following statements best describes burnout?

- A. A phenomenon associated with career-related stress
- B. A sense of lack of direction and ambiguity
- C. The physical susceptibility to illness and fatigue
- D. General feelings of hopelessness and loss of appetite

Answer: A

Explanation:

Within Professional Counseling Orientation and Ethical Practice, CACREP highlights the importance of counselors understanding impairment, burnout, and self-care-for themselves and in general occupational contexts.

* Burnout is typically defined as a state of emotional, physical, and mental exhaustion that results from chronic work-related or career-related stress, often accompanied by decreased sense of accomplishment and depersonalization.

Option D captures burnout as a phenomenon associated with career-related (occupational) stress, which is the broad, accurate description tested on the NCE.

Options A, B, and C each describe possible symptoms or correlates (hopelessness, confusion, fatigue, illness), but none by themselves constitute the definition of burnout. Burnout is best understood as a syndrome arising from prolonged job stress, making D the best answer.

NEW QUESTION # 124

What is the prominent activity in career construction counseling?

- A. Documenting experience
- B. Practicing interview skills
- C. Identifying life themes
- D. Analyzing temperament

Answer: C

Explanation:

Career construction counseling (Savickas) is a narrative, meaning-based approach to career development.

Its central activity is helping clients tell, explore, and organize their life stories in a way that reveals recurring life themes and preferred ways of being in the world. These themes then guide career choices and roles that feel coherent and meaningful.

Thus, option C. Identifying life themes is correct, as it captures the core narrative task of career construction counseling.

* A. Analyzing temperament fits more with trait-based or psychometric approaches.

* B. Documenting experience may occur, but it is secondary to making sense of those experiences through themes.

* D. Practicing interview skills is a useful career skill-building task but is not the central activity of career construction counseling.

NBCC Counselor Work Behavior Areas expect counselors to understand major career theories and approaches, including narrative and constructivist models that emphasize life themes, meaning-making, and storytelling in career development.

NEW QUESTION # 125

What can happen when group rules are established and stated explicitly?

- A. Group members follow the group guidelines when participating.
- B. Members move through group stages more slowly.
- C. Members' reliance on the group leader for guidance increases.
- D. More work is required of the group leader to enforce the norms.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Group Counseling and Group Work core area highlights the importance of group norms, ground rules, and structure in promoting effective group functioning. When group rules are clear and explicit:

- * Members know what behavior is expected and what is inappropriate,
- * There is a shared understanding of participation, confidentiality, respect, and attendance, and
- * Members can self-regulate and hold each other accountable, rather than relying solely on the leader.

Thus, Option A is correct: clearly stated rules increase the likelihood that members will follow the group guidelines in their participation.

Why the other options are less accurate:

- * B. Move through stages more slowly - Having explicit rules generally supports smoother movement through group stages by reducing confusion and conflict, not slowing development.
- * C. More work for the leader - Explicit rules typically reduce the leader's enforcement burden because expectations are shared and can be maintained by the group.
- * D. Increased reliance on the leader - Clear, agreed-upon rules foster greater group autonomy, not greater dependence on the leader.

Therefore, consistent with CACREP's emphasis on understanding and facilitating group norms, A is the best answer.

NEW QUESTION # 126

Which of the following is a major assumption of behavior therapy?

- A. Behavior therapy assumes that psychological principles, especially learning principles, can be very ineffective in modifying maladaptive behavior.
- B. Behavior therapy assumes that a maladaptive behavior is basically acquired through learning just as any behavior is learned.
- C. Behavior therapy attempts to correct the underlying cause rather than the maladaptive behavior itself.
- D. Behavior therapy provides only one method of treatment, regardless of the specific nature of the client's presenting complaint.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Behavioral approaches are grounded in the assumption that most human behavior, including maladaptive behavior, is learned through principles such as conditioning, reinforcement, modeling, and environmental contingencies. From this perspective:

- * Problem behaviors are acquired in the same way as other behaviors (through learning).
- * Therefore, they can be modified or unlearned using the same learning principles.

Option B directly reflects this core assumption.

* A is inaccurate because behavior therapy typically focuses directly on observable behavior, not on uncovering deep "underlying causes" in a psychodynamic sense.

* C is the opposite of what behavior therapy proposes; behavior therapy is built on the idea that learning principles are effective in changing behavior.

* D is incorrect because behavior therapy uses many techniques (e.g., exposure, systematic desensitization, skills training, reinforcement strategies) tailored to specific problems and clients.

Understanding major theoretical orientations, including behavior therapy and how they conceptualize the development and modification of maladaptive behaviors, is part of the Areas of Clinical Focus within the Counselor Work Behavior Areas.

NEW QUESTION # 127

A client reports difficulty concentrating "because everyone is always speaking at once." Following this disclosure, what symptom must the counselor assess?

- A. Auditory hallucinations
- B. Tactile hallucinations
- C. Delusions of grandeur
- D. Visual hallucinations

Answer: A

Explanation:

In intake and assessment, counselors are expected to recognize possible indicators of psychotic symptoms and to follow up with focused questioning. A report that "everyone is always speaking at once" suggests that the client may be experiencing perceptual disturbances involving hearing voices, which is characteristic of auditory hallucinations.

The counselor's responsibility, as outlined in assessment-related work behaviors, is to:

- * Identify verbal cues suggesting hallucinations or other psychotic features.
- * Conduct further assessment to clarify the nature, frequency, and impact of these experiences.
- * Determine risk, functional impairment, and the need for referral or coordinated care.

Why the other options are incorrect:

- * A. Visual hallucinations involve seeing things (people, objects, lights) that are not present; the client's description specifically involves "speaking" which is auditory.
 - * C. Delusions of grandeur are fixed false beliefs about having exceptional power, importance, or identity, not a perception that many voices are speaking at once.
 - * D. Tactile hallucinations involve feeling physical sensations (e.g., bugs crawling on the skin) that are not actually occurring.
- This is consistent with NBCC Counselor Work Behavior Areas, which emphasize accurate symptom recognition and diagnostic assessment as foundational to responsible counseling practice.
