NEW QUESTION # 245

A new field is being created on a custom object. However, the app builder does not want the field to show up on pre-existing custom report types.

What should the app builder do on the custom field setup to fulfill this requirement?

- A. Deselect auto add to custom report type.
- B. Remove the new field from all page layouts.
- C. Grant read-only access to all report profiles.
- D. Remove visibility to all report profiles.

Answer: A

Explanation:

When creating a new field, if an app builder does not want the field to be automatically added to pre-existing custom report types, the step to take is:

* Deselect 'Add Field to Custom Report Types' (D). This option is available when creating or editing a custom field and ensures that the field is not automatically included in report types where 'Automatically add new custom fields to report type layouts' is enabled. Removing the field from page layouts (A) affects the visibility on record pages but not reports. Adjusting visibility (B) or setting read-only access (C) for report profiles affects user permissions to see the field in reports, but does not remove the field from report types if it was previously added.

NEW QUESTION # 247

An app builder created multiple custom fields, page layouts, and reports in the sandbox and added them to a change set was deployed to production, the reports were NOT deployed.

What should the app builder do?

- A. Add the reports to an unmanaged package and install the unmanaged package into production.
- B. Recreate the reports in production. Reports are not supported in change sets
- C. Move the reports to the Untried Public Reports folder and add them to a new change set.
- D. Move the reports from the Unfiled Public Reports folder and add them to a new change set

Answer: D

Explanation:

Moving the reports from the Unfiled Public Reports folder and adding them to a new change set is what the app builder should do to deploy the reports to production. According to the Salesforce documentation, "Reports in the Unfiled Public Reports folder aren't available for deployment." Moving the reports to the Untried Public Reports folder, recreating the reports in production, and adding the reports to an unmanaged package are not necessary or recommended actions.

NEW QUESTION # 248

What is one limitation of using schema builder when creating a field?

- A. Cannot create lookup relationships.
- B. Cannot add fields to page layouts.
- C. Cannot create formula fields.
- D. Cannot see existing relationships between objects.

Answer: B

Explanation:

One of the limitations when using the Schema Builder for creating fields is:

C . Cannot add fields to page layouts. While Schema Builder allows for easy visualization and creation of fields and objects, it does not support placing these fields onto specific page layouts directly from the Schema Builder interface.

To place fields on page layouts, you need to:

Navigate to Setup → Object Manager → select your object.

Click on Page Layouts, choose the appropriate layout, and manually add the newly created fields.

This step is necessary to ensure fields are visible and properly arranged on user interfaces.

For more details, Salesforce's Schema Builder documentation outlines its capabilities and limitations.
