NEW QUESTION # 14

Consider the diagram:

(A diagram showing Chief Marketing Officer connected to Market Share.)

What element represents the Chief Marketing Officer?

- A. Business Actor
- B. Role
- C. Actor
- D. Stakeholder

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation:

The Chief Marketing Officer (CMO) in this diagram is depicted as a stakeholder, as it represents an individual or a group with concerns about market share.

In ArchiMate 3.2, a stakeholder is an entity that has an interest in the outcomes of enterprise architecture, business processes, or strategic goals. The Market Share concept represents a business driver or key metric, which directly aligns with stakeholder concerns in an organization.

Analysis of Answer Choices:

#A. Business Actor##Incorrect.

* A Business Actor represents an organizational entity that performs behavior (e.g., a company, department, or system).

* The CMO is an individual with a concern (Market Share), not a system or department performing business processes.

* ArchiMate 3.2 Specification, Section 6.2.1, states that a Business Actor is an operational entity rather than a strategic role or stakeholder.

#B. Role##Incorrect.

* A Role represents a responsibility or job function assigned to actors, but the diagram does not depict responsibilities or assigned functions.

* A Role is usually linked to a business actor, while the CMO in this context is linked to a business concern (Market Share).

* ArchiMate 3.2 Specification, Section 6.3.1, states that roles are used to define responsibilities, whereas stakeholders are used to define concerns.

#C. Stakeholder##Correct Answer

* The CMO represents a strategic position with concerns about business performance, making it a Stakeholder in ArchiMate.

* ArchiMate 3.2 Specification, Section 6.2.1, defines Stakeholder as an entity concerned with outcomes and business goals, exactly fitting the context of this diagram.

#D. Actor##Incorrect.

* An Actor in ArchiMate is used to define entities performing business behaviors (such as a department or a system).

* The CMO is not performing an explicit business function but rather has concerns about market performance.

#C. Stakeholder

* ArchiMate 3.2 Specification: Sections 6.2.1 (Stakeholder), 6.3.1 (Role), and 6.2.1 (Business Actor).
