NEW QUESTION # 126

Which of the following is a valid reason for defining a system exception?

- A. Internet connection failure in case of a web application usage
- B. Application login failure because of incorrect credentials
- C. Input data does not pass validation criteria
- D. Email attachment not available

Answer: A

Explanation:

A valid reason for defining a system exception includes scenarios like an Internet connection failure in the case of a web application usage. System exceptions refer to errors that are caused by external factors unrelated to the business logic, such as technical failures or connectivity issues, which disrupt the normal functioning of an application. NEW QUESTION # 127

How many samples are recommended to train a custom ML model that has one custom extra field?

- A. 5-10 document samples
- B. 5-20 document samples
- C. 20-50 document samples
- D. 50-90 document samples

Answer: C

Explanation:

To train a custom Machine Learning (ML) model that includes one custom extra field, it is recommended to use between 20 to 50 document samples. This range provides a sufficient amount of data to ensure the model can learn effectively while accommodating the variability introduced by the additional custom field

NEW QUESTION # 128

What option from below is relevant to the UAT plan structure?

- A. Establish reporting metrics
- B. Keep the same machine environment after running multiple tests
- C. Stop any new change request
- D. Collect the Issue Logs and save them in the Production plan

Answer: A

Explanation:

In the context of a User Acceptance Testing (UAT) plan structure, establishing reporting metrics is a relevant option. This involves defining clear and measurable criteria for evaluating the performance and outcome of the testing process. By setting these metrics, stakeholders can have a standardized basis for assessing the test results, facilitating more informed decisions regarding the readiness and quality of the automation solution().
