EXIN EPI Certified Data Centre Specialist Sample Questions (Q55-Q60):

NEW QUESTION # 55

In order to save energy, you are going to install an automated system to switch off lights. What should be taken into consideration when installing such a system?

- A. The system should not be based on motion detection as the lights might suddenly switch off while staff is still at work.
- B. It is not advisable to use such a system since it will reduce the lifetime of LED lighting.
- C. Security guards should perform regular inspections verifying the system works.
- D. At all times, the levels should allow for security cameras to function properly.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 56

A data center requires an audit to find out whether it conforms with ANSI/TIA-942 Rated-3 (concurrently maintainable).

Will the network architecture be part of this audit?

- A. No, as concurrently maintainable only applies to electrical and mechanical (power and cooling).
- B. No, only the type of cabling used will be audited.
- C. Yes, but only if the network administration does not comply with ANSI/TIA-606.
- D. Yes, amongst other aspects, the network architecture should be Rated-3 compliant with the requirements of ANSI/TIA-942.

Answer: D

Explanation:

For a Rated-3 data center, network architecture is indeed a key component of the audit under ANSI/TIA-942.

This rating requires concurrent maintainability across all systems, including telecommunications infrastructure. The network architecture must therefore meet specific redundancy and reliability standards to ensure uninterrupted operations during maintenance or failure of any single component.

Detailed Explanation:

Rated-3 requirements extend beyond electrical and mechanical systems to include network architecture. This ensures that telecommunications systems are also designed for concurrent maintainability, thus contributing to overall uptime and resilience.

EPI Data Center Specialist References:

EPI endorses comprehensive assessments for Rated-3 facilities, emphasizing that network systems must meet standards for redundancy and concurrent maintainability, which align with ANSI/TIA-942's holistic approach to data center reliability.

NEW QUESTION # 57

A customer requires THDi from the UPS not to exceed 3% and wants high efficiency. The UPS has a 6-pulse SCR/thyristor rectifier and is loaded ~80%. Many ICT changes are expected in the next 3 years. What should you recommend?

- A. Install an isolation transformer rated K13 or K20
- B. Nothing; the UPS will keep THDi at the right levels
- C. Install an active harmonic filter on the UPS
- D. Install a passive harmonic filter on the UPS

Answer: C

Explanation:

A 6-pulse thyristor rectifier typically produces 25-35% THDi at nominal load. To reach #3% THDi, an active harmonic filter (or a 12/18-pulse or IGBT rectifier UPS) is required. Passive filters are load-specific and less effective over a wide operating range-undesirable with frequent changes.

References: IEEE 519-2014 (harmonic current limits), UPS vendor application notes (6-pulse vs IGBT rectifier THDi), ANSI/TIA-942-B Annex (power quality).

NEW QUESTION # 58

A data center scores Rated-3 in mechanical, Rated-4 in electrical, and Rated-2 in architectural.

What is the overall Rating of this data center when the Rating is based on the ANSI/TIA-942?

- A. Rated-4 since that is the highest rating received
- B. Rated-4 since electrical is more important than mechanical and architectural
- C. Rated-2 since that is the lowest rating received
- D. Depends on the Rating scored in telecommunications

Answer: C

Explanation:

According to ANSI/TIA-942 standards, the overall data center rating is determined by the lowest rating among all evaluated categories. Therefore, if a data center is rated 2 in architectural, despite being rated higher in mechanical and electrical, the overall rating is Rated-2. This approach ensures that all aspects meet a minimum standard and prevents a higher rating if any critical area does not comply.

Detailed Explanation:

ANSI/TIA-942 evaluates data centers across several areas, including mechanical, electrical, architectural, and telecommunications. The overall rating reflects the lowest rated category, ensuring that no aspect of the data center's design or operation falls below the specified level. Thus, in this case, the architectural rating of 2 dictates the final rating, ensuring a comprehensive and balanced assessment of reliability and resilience across all aspects.

EPI Data Center Specialist References:

EPI Data Center Specialist training aligns with ANSI/TIA-942, stating that the final rating must reflect the lowest score to ensure comprehensive reliability across all critical infrastructure categories. This avoids overstating the data center's resilience and ensures uniform standards across areas.

NEW QUESTION # 59

Where should raised-floor installation start?

- A. Point C (center of the room)
- B. Point A (entrance corner)
- C. Point B (side wall)
- D. Point D (corner opposite entrance)

Answer: A

Explanation:

Best practice is to begin raised-floor installation at the center of the room, working outward. This minimizes alignment errors and ensures the tile grid is centered, which is critical for aisle containment and rack alignment.

Starting at the perimeter (A, B, D) causes cutting of tiles along both sides, misalignment with rack rows, and possible airflow inefficiencies. By starting at the center, tiles can be cut symmetrically around the edges, providing better aesthetics, balanced airflow, and structural stability.

Industry guidelines such as CISC recommend this approach for raised floors in mission-critical spaces.
