Huawei HCSP-Presales-Campus Network Planning and Design V2.0 Sample Questions (Q30-Q35):

NEW QUESTION # 30

On a campus fabric network, which of the following methods can be used for non-authenticated terminals to access a VN?

- A. Configuring static VLANs
- B. Performing Portal authorization
- C. Dynamically authorizing VLANs
- D. Performing 802.1X authorization

Answer: A

Explanation:

In a Virtualized Campus Network (Fabric), terminals that do not support authentication protocols (such as simple IP cameras or legacy printers) cannot participate in dynamic authorization processes like 802.1X or Portal. To allow these "dumb" terminals to access a specific Virtual Network (VN), administrators must manually bind the access port or a specific Static VLAN (A) to the desired VN (VRF) on the Edge node. This ensures the terminal's traffic is correctly encapsulated into the VXLAN overlay.

NEW QUESTION # 31

iMaster NCE-Campus has a built-in terminal fingerprint database for identifying terminals.

- A. True
- B. False

Answer: A

Explanation:

One of the "Intelligent" features of the Xinghe Intelligent Campus is automated asset management. iMaster NCE-Campus maintains a built-in terminal fingerprint database containing characteristics for thousands of device types (IP cameras, printers, VoIP phones, smartphones, etc.). By analyzing traffic attributes (MAC OUI, HTTP User-Agent, DHCP options), the system automatically identifies the device type and can apply appropriate security policies (Group-based policies) without manual intervention.

NEW QUESTION # 32

Which of the following deployment modes are supported by APs?

- A. Registration query center-based deployment
- B. Barcode scanning-based deployment with CloudCampus APP
- C. DHCP Option 148-based deployment
- D. Email-based deployment

Answer: A,B,C

Explanation:

In the Xinghe Intelligent Campus solution, APs (Access Points) support several automated "Plug-and-Play" deployment methods. Option A (Registration Query Center) allows an AP to query a Huawei-hosted global database to find its assigned controller. Option C (Barcode Scanning) uses the mobile app to scan the SN (Serial Number), binding the device to a site. Option D (DHCP Option 148) allows a local DHCP server to deliver the management IP of iMaster NCE-Campus directly to the AP. Email-based deployment (B) is reserved specifically for AR routers/CPEs in SD-WAN scenarios and is not a supported method for AP onboarding.

NEW QUESTION # 33

What benefits does Huawei's IT and OT converged production network solution deliver to customers?

- A. Intelligent wireless connections
- B. Digital and intelligent production
- C. Intelligent O & M
- D. Flexible manufacturing

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

Huawei's Campus Production Network Solution (specifically for Industrial/Manufacturing scenarios) focuses on the convergence of Information Technology (IT) and Operational Technology (OT). The primary benefits highlighted in the HCSP V2.0 guides are:

* Intelligent wireless connections (A): Using Wi-Fi 6/7 with deterministic latency to replace cables on the factory floor, enabling mobile production.

* Digital and intelligent production (D): The ultimate goal of the convergence is to enable real-time data collection from sensors (OT) to the cloud (IT), facilitating the transformation to Smart Manufacturing.

Note: While Intelligent O & M is a feature of the platform, A and D are the specific strategic benefits defining the "IT/OT Convergence" value proposition.

NEW QUESTION # 34

Free mobility grants users consistent network access rights and enforces corresponding policies, regardless of the users' locations and IP addresses.

- A. True
- B. False

Answer: A

Explanation:

Free Mobility is a core component of the Huawei Xinghe Intelligent Campus solution. Traditionally, network policies (ACLs) were tied to IP addresses, which change as users move. Free Mobility decouples policies from IP addresses by using Security Groups (also known as "Group-based Policy"). When a user authenticates via iMaster NCE-Campus, they are assigned to a specific group. The network then enforces permissions based on the "Source Group" and "Destination Group," ensuring that a teacher, for example, has the same access rights whether they are in the office, a classroom, or the library.
