問題 #53

What step can a Buyer take to initiate the checkout process in a storefront on B2B commerce?

- A. Click the checkout button on the cart page
- B. Click the next button on the checkout tile
- C. Click add all items in the wishlist
- D. Submit a PO (Purchase Order) for manual approval

答案： A

解題說明：

According to the Checkout Flow page, checkout flow is a feature that allows you to customize the steps and actions that occur when a user places an order on your B2B Commerce site. Checkout flow is a type of flow that can be created or modified using Flow Builder in Salesforce Setup. The step that a buyer can take to initiate the checkout process in a storefront on B2B Commerce is to click the checkout button on the cart page. The cart page is a web page that displays the products that a user has added to their cart on your B2B Commerce site. The checkout button is a component that allows a user to proceed to the checkout flow and place their order. Therefore, option B is correct. Options A, C, and D are false because they are not steps that a buyer can take to initiate the checkout process in a storefront on B2B Commerce. Clicking add all items in the wishlist, clicking the next button on the checkout tile, and submitting a PO (Purchase Order) for manual approval are either unrelated or alternative actions that a buyer can take on your B2B Commerce site, but they do not initiate the checkout process. 問題 #54

Northern Trail Outfitters (NTO) is ready to move their store from Sandbox to Production. 26m 00s Which three components does an Administrator need to consider as part of the Change Sets?

- A. Store Configuration Component
- B. Custom Objects and Fields
- C. Process Builder Flows
- D. Site.com (from Experience Builder)
- E. Platform Events

答案： A,B,C

解題說明：

When moving a store from Sandbox to Production, the three components an Administrator needs to consider as part of the Change Sets include B. Store Configuration Component, which contains the store's setup and configuration settings; C. Custom Objects and Fields, which are used to extend the functionality and store custom data; and E. Process Builder Flows, which automate business processes within the store. These components are crucial for ensuring the store's functionality and customizations are retained when moving to the production environment.

問題 #55

Which option is a workspace in the Commerce app?

- A. Content Management
- B. Search
- C. Commerce Reports
- D. Product

答案： D

解題說明：

Explanation

The Product option is a workspace in the Commerce app. A workspace is a collection of tools and data that an admin can use to manage a specific aspect of a store, such as products, categories, price books, promotions, etc. The Product workspace allows an admin to create, edit, import, and export products and product variations for a store. 問題 #56

An Administrator is setting up email templates that will be automatically sent to customers after performing different actions. How should the Administrator ensure that the emails will all be sent from a "no-reply" email address?

- A. Create an Org-Wide Email Address in Setup.
- B. Create a No-Reply Email Address in Setup.
- C. Create a Domain Email Address in the Store Manager.
- D. Create a System Email Address in the Store Manager.

答案： A

解題說明：

To ensure that all automated emails are sent from a "no-reply" email address, the Administrator should:

B: Create an Org-Wide Email Address in Setup: This allows for the configuration of a default email address (such as a "no-reply" address) that will be used for all outgoing emails from the Salesforce org, ensuring consistency and controlling the reply behavior.

問題 #57

An Administrator needs to support a unique use case with an exclusive line of products.

Only certain stores as 'Premium' Status should contain an exclusive list of products. All of the other products outside of the exclusive product line should be available in all stores. Is it possible to support this use case of store-specific products in B2B Commerce?

- A. yes this is supported by the B2B commerce data model
- B. No the data model does not support this type of configuration
- C. Yes there is an exclusive line checkbox on the product entity which supports this scenario.
- D. No the product must be filtered with custom code

答案： A

解題說明：

According to the Product Exclusion page, product exclusion is a feature that allows you to exclude certain products from being assigned to a store or a reorder portal. Product exclusion can help you support a unique use case with an exclusive line of products that are only available for certain stores with a premium status. To support this use case of store-specific products in B2B Commerce, an admin can do the following steps:

Create a product list that contains the exclusive products that are only available for the premium stores.

Navigate to CC Admin in the commerce app.

Click Stores in the navigation menu.

Select the store or reorder portal that you want to exclude the exclusive products from.

Click Product Exclusion in the store workspace.

Select the product list that contains the exclusive products from the Product List drop-down list.

Click Save.

Repeat steps 4-7 for each store or reorder portal that you want to exclude the exclusive products from. Therefore, option A is correct. Options B, C, and D are false because they imply that this use case of store-specific products in B2B Commerce is not supported by the data model or requires additional configuration or customization, which is not true.
