Choose 2 answers

- A. View the Apex Flex Queue
- B. Query the AsyncApexJob object
- C. View the Apex Jobs page
- D. View the Apex Status page

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Apex Jobs Page:

Provides a user-friendly interface to view the status and details of enqueued jobs, including those implementing the Queueable interface.

AsyncApexJob Object:

The AsyncApexJob object stores information about queued Apex jobs.

Developers can query this object for job details like Status, JobType, etc.

Example SOQL Query: SELECT Id, Status, JobType, CreatedDate

FROM AsyncApexJob

- A. Record-triggered flow
- B. Field Update actions
- C. Apex trigger
- D. Formula field

Answer: D

Explanation:

In this scenario, a formula field is the most appropriate choice to calculate the ratio between rejected and approved timesheets for a given project. This is because formula fields automatically calculate their values based on other fields' values, requiring no additional maintenance or manual intervention when the related fields are updated. They are used for read-only purposes and are visible to users if they have read access to the object containing the formula field. References: The use of formula fields for automatic calculations can be referenced in Salesforce's official documentation and learning modules, specifically under the section that covers objects and fields in Salesforce (Objects and Fields).
