ASET Ethics Examination-ASET Professional Practice Exam (PPE) Sample Questions (Q26-Q31):

NEW QUESTION # 26

A regulated member is cancelled for non-payment of dues but is planning to reinstate as a C.E.T. member.

Which of the following actions should the cancelled member take?

- A. Keep the C.E.T. designation on business cards and signatures but notify the employer that reinstatement is required.
- B. No action is required by the member.
- C. Discontinue use of the C.E.T. designation until being reinstated.
- D. Notify ASET and continue to use the C.E.T designation until being reinstated.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Under the Engineering and Geoscience Professions Act (EGPA), professional designations such as C.E.T., C.Tech., and P.Tech. are strictly legally protected titles. The right to use these titles is a privilege granted exclusively to individuals who maintain their registration in good standing with the regulatory body (ASET). Maintaining good standing inherently includes fulfilling all administrative obligations, such as the payment of annual membership dues and completing CPD. If a member's registration is cancelled for non-payment-even if they intend to pay and reinstate shortly-they immediately lose the legal right to practice under that title. Continuing to use the designation on business cards, email signatures, or professional documents while cancelled (Options C and D) is an act of misrepresentation and a violation of provincial law. The only legally and ethically compliant action is to immediately discontinue all use of the C.E.T. designation until the dues are paid and official confirmation of reinstatement is received from the ASET Registrar.

NEW QUESTION # 27

Upon cancellation, what must a regulated member of ASET surrender to the Registrar?

- A. Certificate of registration
- B. Certificate of registration and annual certificate
- C. Annual certificate
- D. Membership card

Answer: B

Explanation:

The designations of Certified Engineering Technologist (C.E.T.) and Certified Technician (C.Tech.) are legally protected titles under the Engineering and Geoscience Professions Act (EGPA). The physical certificates issued by ASET-specifically the primary Certificate of Registration (often a wall certificate) and the Annual Certificate (or digital equivalent proving current year dues and compliance)

-remain the legal property of the Association, not the individual member. They serve as public declarations of a member's current competency and legal right to practice. When a member's registration is cancelled-whether due to voluntary resignation, non-payment of dues, or as a result of disciplinary action-they immediately lose the legal right to use those titles and practice under that regulated scope. To prevent public deception or the fraudulent use of professional credentials by someone no longer bound by the ASET Code of Ethics, ASET bylaws require that both the Certificate of Registration and the Annual Certificate must be immediately surrendered and returned to the Registrar.

NEW QUESTION # 28

The ASET Practice Review Board shall, on its own initiative or at the request of the ASET Council, inquire into which of the following?

- A. The assessment of engineering practice in Alberta
- B. The practice of professional technologists
- C. The examination of non-regulated members
- D. The evaluation of desirable standards of competence of regulated members

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Practice Review Board (PRB) is a critical statutory committee established under the Engineering and Geoscience Professions Act (EGPA) to maintain the overall quality and standards of the profession.

Unlike the Investigative or Discipline Committees, which deal with specific complaints of misconduct against individual members, the PRB has a broader, more systemic mandate. One of its primary legal functions is to continuously evaluate, develop, and maintain the desirable standards of competence for all regulated members. The PRB conducts general reviews of practice trends, manages the Continuing Professional Development (CPD) program, and can proactively audit the practices of members to ensure they are keeping their skills current and adhering to the latest technical and ethical standards. It acts as a proactive quality-assurance mechanism for the profession. It does not examine non-regulated individuals, nor does it broadly assess the entire engineering practice in Alberta (which is APEGA's domain), but rather focuses specifically on evaluating and enforcing the standards of competence for ASET's own regulated membership.

NEW QUESTION # 29

Which of the following principles is considered to be the most important in the ASET Code of Ethics?

- A. Hold paramount the safety, health and welfare of the public, the protection of the environment and the promotion of health and safety within the workplace.
- B. Uphold the principle of appropriate and adequate compensation for the performance of their work.
- C. Present clearly to employers and clients the possible consequences if professional decisions or judgments are overruled or disregarded.
- D. Report to the appropriate agencies any hazardous, illegal or unethical professional decisions or practices by other members or others.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The cornerstone of all engineering and applied science technology regulation in Canada is the protection of the public. Consequently, the first and most critical principle in the ASET Code of Ethics is to "Hold paramount the safety, health and welfare of the public, the protection of the environment and the promotion of health and safety within the workplace." The word "paramount" is legally and ethically significant; it means this principle absolutely overrides all other duties, loyalties, or obligations. If a professional's duty to their employer (to save money), their client (to finish a project quickly), or themselves (to secure compensation) conflicts with public safety or environmental protection, the safety of the public must legally and ethically win every single time. All other ethical guidelines—such as reporting unethical behavior, presenting consequences, or maintaining confidentiality—are ultimately subservient to and designed to support this singular, overarching goal of societal protection.

NEW QUESTION # 30

Which of the following documents should be stamped or sealed by a qualified professional?

- A. Recommended but not required on any professional documentation
- B. Only professional documents for projects that affect public safety
- C. All professional documents prepared by the organization
- D. Final drawings, specifications, plans, and similar documents

Answer: D

Explanation:

The professional stamp or seal is a legal mark of reliance. When a regulated professional (such as a P.

Tech., or an engineer) affixes their seal to a document, they are publicly certifying that the work was prepared by them or under their direct supervision, that it meets all applicable codes and technical standards, and that they accept full professional and legal responsibility for its contents. Consequently, a seal must only be applied to final documents—such as final drawings, specifications, technical plans, and formal engineering reports—that are intended to be relied upon by others (clients, contractors, or municipalities) for construction, manufacturing, or significant decision-making. Seals should not be applied to preliminary drafts, internal memos, or non-technical business documents (Option A), nor is their use merely "recommended" (Option D); it is legally mandated for final technical works.

Furthermore, their use is not strictly limited to public safety projects (Option C), but to any finalized technical design within the professional's authorized scope of practice.
