NEW QUESTION # 55

A financial institution has created a new policy that states the company will not send more than 500 emails per day. Which option allows you to implement the requirement?

- A. Volume constraints
- B. Suppression rules
- C. Outbound channel limits
- D. Applicability rules

Answer: A

Explanation:

Volume constraints allow you to limit the number of times an action is presented to customers across one or more channels. You can use volume constraints to implement a policy that restricts the number of emails sent per day. Outbound channel limits are used to limit the number of customers contacted per channel per run, not per day. Suppression rules are used to exclude customers from receiving an action based on certain conditions, such as opt-out preferences or recent purchases. Applicability rules are used to determine whether an action is relevant for a customer based on their profile or context, not based on the number of times the action

is presented. Verified Reference: Certified Pega Decisioning Consultant | Pega Academy, Volume constraints

NEW QUESTION # 56

The U+ Bank marketing department currently promotes various home loan offers to qualified customers. Now, the bank does not want customers to receive more than four promotional emails per quarter, regardless of past responses to that action by the customer.

Which option allows you to implement the business requirement?

- A. Volume constraints
- B. Outbound channel limits
- C. Suitability rules
- D. Suppression policies

Answer: A

Explanation:

Volume constraints allow you to limit the number of times an action is presented to customers across one or more channels. You can use volume constraints to implement the requirement that customers do not receive more than four promotional emails per quarter, regardless of past responses to that action by the customer. You can configure the volume constraint to limit the number of actions per channel per quarter and select the option to ignore previous responses. Outbound channel limits are used to limit the number of customers contacted per channel per run, not per quarter. Suppression policies are used to exclude customers from receiving an action based on certain conditions, such as opt-out preferences or recent purchases, not based on the number of times the action is presented. Suitability rules are used to determine whether an action is suitable for a customer based on their propensity, priority, or other criteria, not based on the number of times the action is presented.

NEW QUESTION # 57

U+ Bank, a retail bank, uses the business operations environment to perform its business changes. The bank carries out these changes in the Pega Customer Decision Hub portal by using revision management features or the 1:1 Operations Manager portal. For each task, select the correct portal in which you perform the build tasks based on best practices.
