NEW QUESTION # 16

Sales reps at Universal Containers (UC) complain about the manual activities they need to perform in order to grant access to supporting internal users (legal, engineering, finance, etc.) for customer records when they need help. In general, the sales reps involved in the deals will not change.

How should an architect help UC improve sales reps' productivity?

- A. Create a permission set with View All Data and assign to supporting users.
- B. Leverage default Account team.
- C. Create a criteria based sharing rule to grant access to other users.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Default Account Teams allow users to predefine a set of supporting internal users (e.g., legal, engineering, finance) who need access to customer records. The team members are automatically granted the specified access whenever an Account is created or updated, reducing the manual effort required by sales reps.

* Option A: A criteria-based sharing rule might grant access to a larger group but does not provide the flexibility and precision of Account Teams.

* Option C: Assigning View All Data via a permission set gives overly broad access and violates the principle of least privilege.
