Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 84

Service reps in a call center do not have assigned desks. They sit at any available desk and use the computer on that desk to access Salesforce. A Platform Administrator has been asked to streamline the login process so the reps do not have to authenticate each time they log in at a different computer. Which function should the administrator use to implement this request?

- A. Multi-factor Authentication
- B. Trusted IP Ranges
- C. Permission Set
- D. Custom Profile

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Salesforce, Trusted IP Ranges (configured under Network Access in Setup) define a set of IP addresses from which users can log in without being prompted for a verification code (identity confirmation). In a call center environment where reps use different machines but are all within the same corporate network (sharing a common external IP or range), adding those corporate IPs to the Trusted IP Ranges list "streamlines" the login process. This prevents the system from seeing each new machine as an "unrecognized device". Multi-factor Authentication (Option C) actually adds an extra step to the login process, which is the opposite of streamlining. Profiles (Option A) and Permission Sets (Option D) can manage "Login IP Ranges" (which restrict access to specific IPs), but Trusted IP Ranges are the primary tool for bypassing identity verification within a known network.
