- A. Internet connectivity is not required for every Unity system
- B. WAN compression is not required to Unity systems
- C. CHAP security is not required between Unity systems
- D. External virtual machine is not required

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 270

Which are two ways to create an asynchronous replication session for a NAS server? (Choose two.)

- A. Create replication connect.
- B. Use the NAS server wizard.
- C. Use NAS server properties.
- D. Create replication interface.

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Explanation

Two ways to create an asynchronous replication session for a NAS server are to use NAS server properties and to use the NAS server wizard. Both methods allow the user to select a source NAS server and a destination NAS server, and configure the replication settings, such as the RPO, the replication schedule, and the replication mode. Creating a replication connection or a replication interface are not ways to create an asynchronous replication session for a NAS server, but rather prerequisites for enabling replication between two Dell Unity systems.
