Archer Certified Administrator-Expert Sample Questions (Q28-Q33):

NEW QUESTION # 28

When installing Archer on a single server, what should you ensure?

- A. The instance database is in the cloud
- B. The AWF service runs on a different server
- C. All components (web application, services, Instance database, AWF service) are installed and configured on the same server
- D. Components are installed on separate servers

Answer: C

Explanation:

In a Single-Server Installation (typically used for Sandbox, Development, or small-scale environments), the goal is to consolidate the entire Archer architecture onto one machine. According to the Archer Administration II setup guides, this means the Web Server (IIS), the Archer Services (Job Engine, Indexing), the Advanced Workflow (AWF) service, and the SQL Server Instance Database must all reside on that single host.

While production environments favor a distributed model (Option B) for performance and redundancy, a single-server setup requires that all roles are configured to point to "localhost" or the local server's IP. The administrator must ensure the server has sufficient CPU and RAM to handle the overlapping resource demands of the SQL database engine and the Archer web services simultaneously. Options C and D describe

"Distributed" or "Hybrid" models, which contradict the definition of a single-server installation.

NEW QUESTION # 29

What does the user status change to if the user violates the maximum login attempts?

- A. Active
- B. Disabled
- C. Inactive
- D. Locked

Answer: D

Explanation:

In the Archer Security Parameters configuration (found in the Archer Control Panel or the Administration workspace), administrators define the "Maximum login attempts." According to the Archer Administration II curriculum, when a user exceeds this threshold (e.g., five failed attempts), the system automatically updates their account status to Locked .

It is important to distinguish "Locked" from "Inactive" or "Disabled." An Inactive or Disabled account usually implies an administrative action or a termination of the user's employment. A Locked status is a temporary security measure triggered by the system to prevent "brute force" attacks. Depending on the Security Parameter settings, a locked account may automatically unlock after a specified duration (e.g., 30 minutes), or it may require an administrator to manually click the "Unlock" button within the user's profile.

This distinction allows administrators to run reports specifically on "Locked" users to identify potential security threats or users who simply need assistance with their credentials.

NEW QUESTION # 30

When importing data through the Data Import Wizard, if you choose the Import Type as "Update Existing Records", which of the following is true?

- A. Matching records will be updated and unmatched records will be discarded.
- B. Matching records will be updated and unmatched records will be added as new records.
- C. A number of the matching records will be updated.
- D. Matching records will be discarded and unmatched records will be added as new records.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 31

Which would be an accurate function(s) description for Archer LDAP Synchronization?

- A. None of these answers are correct
- B. Only creates accounts for new users found on the LDAP server
- C. Updates user profile data and deactivates accounts based on LDAP changes
- D. Only associates Archer users/groups with domain users/groups

Answer: C

Explanation:

This question reinforces a critical security concept in Archer Administration II . LDAP Synchronization is not just a "one-time" user creation tool; it is a lifecycle management service. While it does create accounts and associate groups, its most vital ongoing function is the synchronization of state .

If a user's title changes in Active Directory, the next LDAP sync will update that title in Archer, ensuring that reports and workflows based on user attributes remain accurate. Furthermore, if a user is removed from the corporate directory, the LDAP sync identifies them as a "Missing Person" based on the administrator's configuration and can automatically deactivate the Archer account. This automated deactivation is a core compliance requirement for most organizations to ensure that terminated employees lose access to sensitive GRC data immediately. Options A and C are incorrect because they use the word "Only," which ignores the broader, dynamic maintenance capabilities of the service.

NEW QUESTION # 32

When viewing the Advanced Workflow Job Troubleshooting tool for a record currently enrolled in Advanced Workflow, what option allows you to retry a specific node?

- A. Update Job
- B. Cancel
- C. Restart
- D. Reset

Answer: D

Explanation:

In the Advanced Workflow Beyond the Basics curriculum, administrators are taught how to manage "faulted" or "stuck" workflow jobs using the Advanced Workflow Job Troubleshooting Tool . When a record hits a snag-for example, if a Notification Node fails because of a mail server timeout or a Evaluate Content Node fails due to a missing field value-the job may stop at that specific node.

The Reset option is the specific administrative action used to re-trigger a node. Selecting "Reset" clears the error state of the current node and attempts to execute it again. This is distinct from Restart (Option C), which would typically send the record back to the very beginning of the entire workflow process, potentially duplicating previous steps. Update Job (Option A) is generally used to apply workflow version changes to an active record, and Cancel (Option D) terminates the workflow entirely. For a pinpointed "retry" of a specific failure point, "Reset" is the verified functional command within the troubleshooting utility.

Here are the verified answers and detailed explanations for Questions 8 through 11, strictly aligned with the Archer Administration II and Advanced Workflow Beyond the Basics curriculum standards.
