NEW QUESTION # 67
After reviewing the latest Expression performance logs, you notice you have several expressions contributing to slow interface or process performance.
Which two conditions will lead to a higher risk associated with slow-performing expressions? (Choose two.)

- A. When the expression is evaluated on a mobile device.
- B. When the expression is a custom function plug-in.
- C. When the expression is used frequently or by many concurrent users.
- D. When the expression is used in a local variable.

Answer: B,C

Explanation:
When the expression is used frequently or by many concurrent users.
A slow-running rule that executes a large number of times - or is triggered by many users at once - multiplies its performance impact, raising the overall risk flagged in the expression-performance logs.
When the expression is a custom function plug-in.
Custom Java plug-ins can introduce additional processing overhead (or poorly optimized code). If such functions are slow, they typically appear near the top of performance logs and carry a higher risk score.

NEW QUESTION # 68
You're refining a story regarding a highly regulated form, where information needs to be sent to a regulatory body at the end of each month to ensure that the business complies with laws and legislation. The story only concerns the creation of the form.
You need to create a form that captures information to comply with the regulatory requirements.
Which two questions should you ask the business? (Choose two.)

- A. What is the maximum length of each field?
- B. What information does the regulatory body require?
- C. How often is the information sent to the regulatory body?
- D. Is the information sent to the regulatory body via an integration?

Answer: A,B

Explanation:
Knowing what information the regulatory body requires ensures the form captures all necessary data for compliance.
Understanding the maximum length of each field guarantees that the data collected will meet validation and regulatory constraints.

NEW QUESTION # 69
You're creating a synced record type which will store read-only data from an external web service. Data in the external system is updated nightly, and the latest information must be available to users in the morning.
Currently there are approximately 150,000 entries in the external system, and this number is not expected to change significantly.
There is an existing integration object and associated expression rule, which when called returns the complete dataset from the external system.
What are two configurations that you must apply to ensure that the latest and complete record set is available?
(Choose two.)

- A. Set all record fields to evaluate in real-time so that the latest information is always retrieved from the web service.
- B. Within the record type, schedule a full sync to occur nightly after the data is refreshed in the external system.
- C. Modify the integration object and associated expression rule to return batches of 1000 based on a batch number passed in from the record type.
- D. Within the Source Filters settings on the record type, disable the row limit option so that all entries can be retrieved from the external system.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:
Scheduling a nightly full sync ensures the record type is updated with the latest data after the external system refreshes.

Disabling the row limit in Source Filters allows the complete dataset to be retrieved and synced, ensuring all entries are available.

NEW QUESTION # 70
You need to relate two entities, Employee and Skill, in the data structure. You want to adhere to Appian best practices.
Employees can have multiple skills, and a single skill can relate to multiple employees.
What type of relationship do these entities represent, and what is the minimum number of tables required to implement the design?

- A. One-to-many; 2 tables
- B. Many-to-many; 2 tables
- C. Many-to-many; 3 tables

Answer: C

Explanation:
The relationship between Employee and Skill is many-to-many - an employee can have multiple skills, and each skill can belong to multiple employees.
To model this properly and according to Appian best practices, you need 3 tables:
Employee table
□
Skill table
□
EmployeeSkill (junction/association) table - contains foreign keys referencing both Employee and Skill to manage the many-to-many relationship.
□

NEW QUESTION # 71
A local variable is reevaluated every time a form loads and you notice subsequent slow performance of the form.
Which two steps could you perform to optimize this? (Choose two.)

- A. Ensure the local variable is refreshed after a specified interval, and nor refreshed when referenced variable are changed.
- B. Avoid executing queries every time a form reevaluates.
- C. Create a local variable inside with () for faster reevaluation.
- D. Ensure the local variable only updates when a referenced variable is modified or when it's being updated in the saveInto parameter of a component.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:
Avoiding queries on every form reevaluation prevents unnecessary data retrieval and improves form performance.
Ensuring the local variable only updates when necessary (e.g., on relevant variable changes or via saveInto) reduces redundant recalculations and optimizes responsiveness.
