Salesforce Certified Platform App Builder Sample Questions (Q168-Q173):

NEW QUESTION # 168

An app builder created multiple custom fields, page layouts, and reports in the sandbox and added them to a change set was deployed to production, the reports were NOT deployed.
What should the app builder do?

- A. Move the reports from the Unfiled Public Reports folder and add them to a new change set
- B. Move the reports to the Untried Public Reports folder and add them to a new change set.
- C. Add the reports to an unmanaged package and install the unmanaged package into production.
- D. Recreate the reports in production. Reports are not supported in change sets

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

Moving the reports from the Unfiled Public Reports folder and adding them to a new change set is what the app builder should do to deploy the reports to production. According to the Salesforce documentation, "Reports in the Unfiled Public Reports folder aren't available for deployment." Moving the reports to the Untried Public Reports folder, recreating the reports in production, and adding the reports to an unmanaged package are not necessary or recommended actions.
