CompTIA Cloud Essentials+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q446-Q451):

NEW QUESTION # 446

A company has been running tests on a newly developed algorithm to increase the responsiveness of the application. The company's monthly bills for the testing have been much higher than expected.

Which of the following documents should the company examine FIRST?

- A. Storage report
- B. Network report
- C. Compute report
- D. Memory report

Answer: B

Explanation:

A network report is a document that provides information about the network usage and performance of a cloud service. It can help the company identify the network-related factors that may affect the responsiveness of the application, such as bandwidth, latency, jitter, packet loss, and throughput. A network report can also help the company monitor the network costs and optimize the network configuration to reduce the monthly bills.

A memory report, a compute report, and a storage report are documents that provide information about the memory, compute, and storage resources of a cloud service, respectively. They can help the company understand the resource consumption and performance of the application, but they are not the first documents to examine for the responsiveness issue.
