VMware Advanced VMware Cloud Foundation 9.0 Operation Sample Questions (Q71-Q76):

NEW QUESTION # 71
An operator attempts to execute a "Delete VM" action on a Powered Off VM from the VCF Operations Reclaim dashboard. The task initiates but quickly fails with an error message in the "Recent Tasks" pane.
Error
"The object has already been deleted or the user does not have permissions." The operator verifies the VM still exists in vCenter. What is the mostly likely permission-based root cause?

- A. The VM is protected by vSphere HA.
- B. The operator's VCF Operations user account lacks the "View Dashboard" privilege.
- C. The VCF Operations "Action Adapter" service is stopped on the remote collector.
- D. The Service Account used by the vCenter Adapter Instance in VCF Operations lacks the specific VirtualMachine.Inventory.Delete privilege in vCenter Server.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 72

In the Capacity Projection chart, what does the "Confidence Band" (the shaded area around the projection line) represent?

- A. The historical data points.
- B. The cost of the hardware.
- C. The statistical probability range of the forecast. A wider band indicates lower confidence (more volatility/unpredictability), meaning the resource might run out sooner or later than the specific predicted date. A narrow band indicates high confidence (stable trend).
- D. The amount of disk space that can be reclaimed.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 73

A VCF Architect is updating the "Standard Operating Procedure" (SOP) for lifecycle managing Cloud Proxies in remote sites.
Current Process
1. Download OVA.
2. Deploy new Proxy.
3. Decommission old Proxy.
New Goal
Automate the upgrade of Cloud Proxies when the central VCF Operations cluster is upgraded.
Which design choice enables this automation?

- A. Configure a local "Update Manager" repository at each remote site.
- B. Ensure the Cloud Proxies have HTTPS access (Port 443) to the VCF Operations Analytics Cluster. The cluster automatically pushes binary updates to the Proxies within minutes of its own upgrade.
- C. None; Cloud Proxies must always be manually redeployed using the "Blue/Green" method.
- D. Use SDDC Manager to patch the remote Cloud Proxies as part of the Management Domain workflow.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 74

A VCF Operations for Networks administrator investigates a "VM-to-VM Path" query between two VMs on different ESXi hosts. The logical path (vNIC, Overlay) is visible, but the Physical Underlay path (Physical Switches/Routers) is completely missing (shows "Unknown").
Configuration
- vCenter Data Source: Configured (Green)
- NSX-T Data Source: Configured (Green)
- Physical Switches: Added as Data Sources
What is the most likely cause for the missing underlay path?

- A. The physical switches do not support IPFIX.
- B. The VMs are on the same VLAN, so no physical path exists.
- C. The operator needs to manually draw the cable connections in the UI.
- D. LLDP (Link Layer Discovery Protocol) is disabled on the VDS or Physical Switch ports, preventing VCF Operations for Networks from correlating the ESXi uplinks with the specific physical switch ports.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 75

An application owner reports that "The application was slow yesterday around 2 PM". The administrator checks the logs but sees no "Errors" or "Failures".
How can VCF Operations for Logs help identify a performance issue that doesn't generate explicit error messages?

- A. By analyzing the "Content Field" (Value) of logs. For example, if the logs contain processing_time_ms=5000, the administrator can create a query where processing_time_ms > 2000 to find latent transactions.
- B. By enabling "Debug" logging on the agent.

- C. It cannot; it only tracks text errors.
- D. By rebooting the server.

Answer: A
