- A. More frequent project milestone meetings
- B. Upper management support
- C. Extend work hours
- D. Stakeholder support

Answer: B

Explanation:
* Upper management support ensures priority alignment, resource allocation, and the resolution of blockers that may delay a project.
* Management's authority can enforce adherence to schedules and increase overall project momentum.
Why Other Options Are Less Effective:
* B. More frequent project milestone meetings: These may help track progress but do not directly address the root causes of delays.
* C. Stakeholder support: While important, stakeholder support is secondary to executive authority in driving a project forward.

* D. Extend work hours: This is a short-term solution that can cause burnout and reduce productivity.

NEW QUESTION # 315
Which of the following conditions would be the MOST probable reason for a security project to be rejected by the executive board of an organization?

- A. The NPV of the project is negative
- B. The Return on Investment (ROI) is larger than 10 months
- C. The Net Present Value (NPV) of the project is positive
- D. The ROI is lower than 10 months

Answer: A

Explanation:
The Net Present Value (NPV) represents the difference between the present value of cash inflows and outflows over a period. A negative NPV indicates that the project would result in a net loss, making it a primary reason for rejection by the executive board.
* Understanding NPV:
* Positive NPV: Project adds value and is likely to be accepted.
* Negative NPV: Project results in a financial loss and is typically rejected.
* Role of Financial Metrics:
* NPV is a critical decision-making metric in evaluating the viability of security projects.
* While ROI provides insights into the return over time, NPV directly addresses financial feasibility.
* Probable Cause for Rejection:
* A project with a negative NPV demonstrates that the cost outweighs the benefits, leading to likely rejection.
* Financial Evaluation in Security Projects: Emphasizes the role of financial metrics like NPV and ROI in board-level decisions.
* Cost-Benefit Analysis Framework: Negative financial outcomes undermine the approval of security investments.
