CFA Institute Sustainable Investing Certificate (CFA-SIC) Exam Sample Questions (Q201-Q206):

NEW QUESTION # 201

Issue-based approaches to engagement are often:

- A. initiated via a direct discussion with senior management and then the board.
- B. accompanied by examples of best practice in a particular area.
- C. employed by active investors.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Issue-based engagement, investors address specific ESG issues that affect multiple companies or sectors. These engagements are often supported by examples of best practice, which may emerge through prior engagements or research.

"Issue-based approaches to engagement are often accompanied by examples of what best practice in a particular area looks like... By expecting all companies in a given sector to adopt these best practices, investors may over time move sector or industry practice forward overall." While active investors may prefer company-specific engagements, issue-based engagements are more commonly used by passive or diversified investors.

NEW QUESTION # 202

All else equal, a higher discount rate applied to a company's discounted cash flow (DCF) analysis will lead to:

- A. the same estimate of intrinsic value
- B. a lower estimate of intrinsic value
- C. a higher estimate of intrinsic value

Answer: B

Explanation:

A higher discount rate applied to a company's discounted cash flow (DCF) analysis will lead to a lower estimate of intrinsic value.

Higher discount rate: The discount rate is used to calculate the present value of future cash flows. A higher discount rate reduces the present value of those cash flows.

Intrinsic value: The intrinsic value of a company is the sum of the present values of its expected future cash flows. As the discount rate increases, the present values decrease, resulting in a lower estimate of intrinsic value.

NEW QUESTION # 203

For a pension plan, the primary driver of ESG investment is most likely:

- A. Loss aversion.
- B. Personal ethics of its members.
- C. Fiduciary duty.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Fiduciary duty (Option A) is the primary driver for ESG investment in pension plans. Trustees are legally obligated to act in the best interests of beneficiaries, which includes considering ESG factors that affect long-term risk-adjusted returns.

Option B (Loss aversion) is a behavioral bias, but pension ESG investment is based on financial materiality rather than loss avoidance.

Option C (Personal ethics of members) may influence individual choices, but pension plans follow fiduciary principles rather than personal beliefs.

NEW QUESTION # 204

The Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD) recommends measuring carbon exposure on a:

- A. portfolio-weighted basis.
- B. per company basis.
- C. per asset basis.

Answer: A

Explanation:

TCFD encourages measuring carbon exposure on a portfolio-weighted basis to provide a comprehensive view of the portfolio's overall carbon footprint, aiding in managing climate-related risks. (ESGTextBook [PallasCatFin], Chapter 3, Page 139)

NEW QUESTION # 205

Which of the three ESG factors is most often taken into consideration by traditional investment analysts?

- A. Environmental
- B. Governance
- C. Social

Answer: B

Explanation:

Traditional investment analysts most often take into consideration governance factors among the three ESG factors. Governance factors are typically viewed as critical to the operational and financial stability of a company.

Corporate Governance: Governance factors include the structures and processes for the direction and control of companies, such as board composition, executive compensation, audit practices, and shareholder rights.

These elements are directly linked to a company's accountability and integrity.

Risk Management: Effective governance practices help mitigate risks related to fraud, mismanagement, and regulatory non-compliance. Analysts focus on governance to ensure that the company is managed in a way that protects shareholders' interests and enhances long-term value.

Performance Indicators: Strong governance is often correlated with better financial performance and reduced volatility. Companies with robust governance structures are perceived as more reliable and are thus more attractive to traditional investment analysts.
