Citrix Virtual Apps and Desktops 7 Administration Sample Questions (Q213-Q218):

NEW QUESTION # 213
Which disk type will always be created for each virtual machine, when creating new virtual machines using Machine Creation Services (MCS)?

- A. Personal vDisk
- B. Full-clone base disk
- C. Identity disk
- D. Differencing (Diff) disk

Answer: C

Explanation:

According to the Create machine catalogs document from Citrix Virtual Apps and Desktops 7 2308, MCS adds the machines to Active Directory, which creates unique identities. MCS creates the number of VMs specified in the wizard, with two disks defined for each VM. In addition to the two disks per VM, a master is also stored in the same storage location. The identity disk is one of the two disks per VM, and it is used to store the Active Directory identity and other unique information for each VM. The identity disk is 16 MB in size and is created for each VM regardless of the disk type selected for the catalog.

NEW QUESTION # 217

Which PowerShell cmdlet can a Citrix Administrator use to get a list of all published applications actively running, along with associated user names, in a Citrix Virtual Apps environment?

- A. Get-BrokerApplication
- B. Get-BrokerApplicationInstance
- C. Get-BrokerSessionPreLaunch
- D. Get-BrokerSession

Answer: B

Explanation:
To monitor running published applications, Citrix administrators use Broker PowerShell cmdlets. Citrix documentation defines the role of the following:
Get-BrokerApplicationInstance
This cmdlet returns active instances of published applications, including:
* Which application is running
* Which user is running it
* Which session it belongs to
* Launch time and instance metadata
This is the only cmdlet dedicated to reporting per-application instance activity.
Why the others are incorrect:
* Get-BrokerApplication:Returns application configuration, not active app sessions.
* Get-BrokerSession:Returns session details (user, endpoint, VDA, etc.) but does not list individual running application instances.
* Get-BrokerSessionPreLaunch:Only shows information about pre-launch sessions, not active applications.
