National Payroll Institute Payroll Fundamentals 1 Exam Sample Questions (Q63-Q68):

NEW QUESTION # 63

Which statutory deductions is salary continuance subject to?

- A. All deductions except Employment Insurance premiums
- B. All deductions except Quebec Parental Insurance Plan premiums
- C. All deductions except Employment Insurance and Quebec Parental Insurance Plan premiums
- D. All deductions

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 64

A retiring allowance includes:

- A. Bonus or incentive pay
- B. Vacation pay
- C. Accumulated overtime
- D. Payments in recognition of long service

Answer: D

Explanation:

The CRA defines a retiring allowance (also called severance pay) as an amount paid to an employee when or after they retire or lose their job, in recognition of long service or for the loss of office or employment. This matches option A.

The other options are specifically not retiring allowances under CRA guidance. The CRA states a retiring allowance does not include salary, wages, bonuses, or overtime, which rules out bonus or incentive pay and accumulated overtime. The CRA also states it does not include payments for accumulated vacation leave not taken before retirement, which rules out vacation pay.

This classification matters in payroll because retiring allowances have distinct rules: for example, they are not subject to CPP or EI deductions, and part of a retiring allowance may be eligible for direct transfer to an RRSP /RPP under special rules (based on pre-1996 service).

NEW QUESTION # 65

Which of the following is not correct?

- A. Vacation pay reported in Block 17A is reported in Block 15B
- B. Severance payments and retiring allowances are not reported in Block 15B
- C. Block 15B is not completed when insurable earnings are reported in Block 15C
- D. Bonus payments reported in Block 17C are also reported in Block 15B

Answer: C

Explanation:

Option A is not correct. Service Canada's ROE guidance for paper ROEs explains that if you need to complete Block 15C, you do that first, and then you still enter the total insurable earnings in Block 15B. It also reminds employers to include any insurable separation payments entered in Block 17 in both Block 15C (Pay Period 1) and Block 15B totals.

Option C is correct because retiring allowances (often treated as severance-type amounts) are not insurable, so even if they appear in Block 17C, they are not added to Blocks 15B/15C.

Option D is correct because vacation pay paid on separation is reported in Block 17A, and when it is insurable, it must be included in the insurable earnings totals in Block 15B (and Block 15C P.P.1 where applicable).

NEW QUESTION # 66

Ursula is 17 years old, works in Quebec and earns $750.00 weekly. Ursula pays weekly union dues of $18.00 along with a special weekly union assessment of $10.00 for construction of a new union hall for its members.

Ursula also has registered pension plan (RPP) contributions of $20.00 deducted from each pay. Calculate Ursula's net federal taxable income.

Answer:

Explanation:

$712.00

Explanation:

For payroll income tax purposes, net taxable income starts with the employee's gross taxable income and then subtracts only those deductions that are deductible for income tax and can be recognized at source. CRA payroll guidance shows this approach by subtracting items such as RPP contributions and union dues when determining net taxable income for calculating income tax deductions.

Gross taxable income (weekly): $750.00.

RPP contributions are deductible (the amounts reported from box 20 of the T4 are generally deductible).

Regular union dues are deductible; however, the CRA states that deductible annual union/professional dues do not include special assessments or charges for anything other than ordinary operating costs. A levy specifically for constructing a new union hall is a special assessment, so it is not deductible as union dues.

So the deductions that reduce federal taxable income here are: $18.00 (union dues) + $20.00 (RPP) = $38.00.

Net federal taxable income = $750.00 - $38.00 = $712.00.

NEW QUESTION # 67

Duncan Drapak was employed in Ontario. Upon termination of his employment, he will be paid $7,760.00 legislated wages in lieu of notice together with his final weekly pay of $875.00. Calculate Duncan's Canada Pension Plan (CPP) contribution if the yearly maximum contribution will not be exceeded.

Answer:

Explanation:

$509.78

Explanation:

Legislated wages in lieu of notice are treated as pensionable employment earnings for CPP purposes, so they are included with the employee's final regular pay when calculating CPP deductions (assuming no CPP exemption applies).

Step 1: Determine total pensionable earnings for the week:

$$7,760.00 + $875.00 = $8,635.00$.

Step 2: Subtract the CPP basic exemption (Year's Basic Exemption is $3,500 annually). For a weekly payroll, the basic exemption is prorated:

$$3,500 \div 52 = \67.31 .

CPP contributory earnings for the week:

$$8,635.00 - $67.31 = $8,567.69$.

Step 3: Apply the 2026 CPP employee contribution rate of 5.95% (base CPP). The question states the annual maximum will not be exceeded, so no capping is required in this calculation.

CPP contribution:

$$8,567.69 \times 5.95\% = $509.7777\dots$, rounded to $509.78.
