CWNP Certified Wireless Analysis Professional Sample Questions (Q111-Q116):

NEW QUESTION # 111

Prior to a retransmission what happens to the CWmax value?

- A. Reset to 0
- B. Doubles and increases by 1
- C. Set to the value of the AIFSN
- D. Increases by 1

Answer: B

Explanation:

Before a retransmission, the contention window is increased using the binary exponential backoff algorithm. The window size doubles and increases by one, up to the defined maximum limit, which reduces the probability of repeated collisions during subsequent transmission attempts.

NEW QUESTION # 112

As a network Administrator, you have recently deployed a new wireless VoIP network. You have provisioned a separate SSID for the VoIP phones with 802.1X/PEAP authentication and enabled 802.11r FT for fast roaming. Your VoIP phones also support FT roaming and you have made sure it is enabled in the device profile. What type of 802.11 Authentication would you expect the VoIP phones to perform first when connecting to the network?

- A. Fast Transition (FT)
- B. Simultaneous Authentication of Equals (SAE)
- C. Open System
- D. Shared Key

Answer: A

Explanation:

With 802.11r Fast BSS Transition enabled, the VoIP phones will perform FT authentication first.

FT allows pre-authentication and key establishment with the target AP, enabling faster and seamless roaming compared to traditional Open System authentication.

NEW QUESTION # 113

Using a portable analyzer you perform a packet capture next to a client STA and you can see that the STA is associated to a BSS. You observe the STA sending packets to the AP and the AP sending packets to the STA. Less than 2% of all packets are retransmissions. You move to capture packets by the AP and, while the retry rate is still less than 2%, you now only see unidirectional traffic from the AP to the client. How do you explain this behavior?

- A. The STA is transmitting data using more spatial streams than the portable analyzer can support
- B. The portable analyzer has a lower receive sensitivity than the AP and while it can't capture the packets from the client STA, the AP can receive them OK
- C. There is a transmit power mismatch between the client and the AP and while the client can hear the AP's traffic, the AP cannot hear the client
- D. The portable analyzer is too close to the AP causing CCI, blinding the AP to the client's packets

Answer: B

Explanation:

When capturing near the client, both uplink and downlink traffic are visible, confirming that communication between the client and AP is functioning properly. After moving near the AP, only downlink frames are visible while the retry rate remains low, indicating the AP is successfully receiving client frames. This behavior suggests the portable analyzer lacks sufficient receive sensitivity to detect the weaker client transmissions at that location, even though the AP, with better receiver sensitivity, can decode them successfully.

NEW QUESTION # 114

What is the purpose of a PHY preamble?

- A. It communicates important information about the PSDU's length, rate, and upper layer protocol-related parameters.
- B. It provides the receiver(s) with an opportunity for RF channel synchronization prior to the start of the PLCP header.
- C. It provides a cyclic redundancy check (CRC) for the receiving station to validate that the PLCP header was received correctly.
- D. It indicates to the PHY the modulation that shall be used for transmission (and reception) of the PSDU.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 115

You view a protocol analyzer capture decode with the following protocol frames listed in the following order (excluding the ACK frames): 1) 802.11 Probe Request and 802.11 Probe Response 2) 802.11 Auth and another 802.11 Auth 2) 802.11 Assoc Req and 802.11 Assoc Rsp 4) EAPOL-Start 5) EAP Request and EAP Response 6) EAP Request and EAP Response 7) EAP Request and EAP Response 8) EAP Request and EAP Response 9) EAP Request and EAP Response 10) EAP Success 19) EAPOL-Key (4 frames in a row) What are you seeing in the capture file?

- A. WPA2-Enterprise authentication
- B. 802.1X with Dynamic WEP
- C. WPA2-Personal authentication
- D. Wi-Fi Protected Setup with PIN

Answer: A
