ISQI IREB Certified Professional for Requirements Engineering. Foundation Level Sample Questions (Q81-Q86):

NEW QUESTION # 81

In requirements engineering, conflicts between stakeholders can arise due to differing perspectives. Which of the following best describes an interest conflict?

- A. A conflict arising from misunderstandings due to ambiguous terminology in requirements documentation.
- B. A scenario where two workers that dislike each other avoid talking to reach a common ground.
- C. A situation where stakeholders disagree due to differing interpretations of the same information.
- D. A disagreement caused by stakeholders having competing goals, such as cost reduction versus performance improvement.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 82

Which definition best characterizes the term "traceability" in terms of requirements engineering? (2 Points)

- A. Level of stabilisation between the elicited and approved requirements
- B. Ability to analyze requirements for contradictory content, especially between the requirements specifications and the test cases
- C. Traceability of the requirements, along with the associated documents, from the requirements elicitation to the implementation
- D. Monitoring of progress in requirements elicitation
- E. Traceability of the effort for the elicitation of requirements, beginning with the elicitation of the documentation right to the point of requirements acceptance

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 83

You would like to design a requirements document in such a way that it is particularly well suited to the project participants who are to continue working with it. Please select from the following statements the two most appropriate assignments of requirement properties to participants. (1 Point)

- A. For all participants the requirements must be consistent.
- B. For maintenance the requirements must be testable.
- C. For the tester the requirements must be practicable.
- D. For the project manager the requirements must be evaluated.
- E. For the developers the requirements must be easily changeable.

Answer: A,D

NEW QUESTION # 84

In regard to tool support for Requirements Engineering, which statement is correct?

- A. "Management of requirements" tools are used to manage the RE workflow.
- B. "Management of RE process" tools are used to track and trace requirements.
- C. "Documentation of knowledge about the requirements" tools are used for sharing requirements.
- D. Office tools are ideal for managing requirements.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

The syllabus distinguishes categories of RE tools: office tools (general purpose), documentation of knowledge about requirements (e.g., wikis, requirements repositories), management of requirements (for traceability, attributes, baselines), management of RE process (workflow and task support) and others. Office tools can be used but have significant limitations—especially for traceability—so A is overstated. Requirements- management tools deal with requirements objects and links, not workflow (C). Process-management tools handle workflow (B). Documentation tools, such as wikis or collaborative repositories, support sharing and collaboratively editing requirements knowledge, which makes D correct.

NEW QUESTION # 85

Taking a requirement as a reference, which type of traceability would be used to pinpoint which work product is based on this given requirement?

- A. Forward traceability
- B. Integrated traceability
- C. Backward traceability
- D. Traceability between requirements

Answer: A
