Appian Certified Analyst Sample Questions (Q11-Q16):

NEW QUESTION # 11

When creating a user story, which of the following is essential to ensure clarity and completeness?

- A. Detailed UI mockups
- B. List of potential risks
- C. Development timeline
- D. Acceptance criteria

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 12

A team is working on a new feature and has completed the initial design. What is the next step in the Agile process?

- A. Start user acceptance testing
- B. Conduct a sprint review
- C. Develop and implement the feature
- D. Gather new requirements

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 13

You need to show a set of data related to a single business object and be able to navigate into the details. Which three features will help you accomplish your goals?

- A. Database
- B. Page
- C. Report
- D. Sites
- E. Record

Answer: B,C,E

Explanation:

To display a set of data related to a single business object and allow navigation into details, the combination of Report, Record, and Page features in Appian is the most effective approach.

Reports:

Reports allow you to aggregate and visualize data, providing an overview of the business object. They can include interactive elements that enable users to drill down into specific details.

Records:

Records in Appian represent business objects and provide a centralized view of all related data. Users can navigate through the data to see different aspects of the business object, including related records and details.

Pages:

Pages in Appian are used to create user interfaces that combine multiple elements, such as Reports and Records, into a cohesive experience.

Pages allow you to organize and present the data in a way that supports user navigation and interaction.

Why Not Other Options?:

- A . Sites: Sites are used to create customized user interfaces but do not directly handle data presentation and navigation.
- D . Database: The database is where data is stored, but it is not directly used to display or navigate data within the user interface.

These features together provide a powerful and flexible way to display and interact with business data in Appian.

NEW QUESTION # 14

Your team is developing an application in which users can submit SOW requests. The application homepage in sites should contain a link that when pressed, navigates users through the request forms within the site.

Which Appian link type should be used on the homepage for new request submissions?

- A. Dynamic Link
- B. Authorization Link
- C. Submit Link
- D. Start Process Link

Answer: D

Explanation:

The "Start Process Link" in Appian is used to initiate a process directly from a site page. In this case, when users press the link on the homepage, it should navigate them through the request forms within the site. The Start Process Link is designed for scenarios where a new process instance needs to be started, such as submitting a Statement of Work (SOW) request.

Start Process Link Overview:

This link type allows users to start a new process directly, leading them into the forms or steps defined in the process model. It is ideal for initiating workflows, such as submitting new requests or forms within an application.

Why Not Other Options?:

- A . Authorization Link: Typically used for authorization or access control, not for starting a new process.
- B . Submit Link: Used for submitting forms within a process, not for starting a new process.
- C . Dynamic Link: Provides general navigation or actions within an interface but does not start a process.

The Start Process Link is the appropriate choice to navigate users through the request submission forms in the application.

NEW QUESTION # 15

Consider the below use case:

A third-party system needs to push information to Appian in real-time.

The information is processed in Appian and a case ID is returned.

The third-party system displays the reference case ID on the confirmation screen.

Which integration approach is most suitable?

- A. Use FTP/SFTP
- B. Use message queues
- C. Use a web API-based integration
- D. Use an integration object

Answer: C

Explanation:

The most suitable integration approach for the given use case is web API-based integration (A). Web APIs allow real-time communication between the third-party system and Appian. The third-party system can send information to Appian through an HTTP request, which Appian processes, and then returns the case ID in the response. This real-time, synchronous interaction is ideal for scenarios where immediate feedback, like displaying a case ID on a confirmation screen, is required. Appian Documentation - Web APIs Note: The other options-FTP/SFTP (B), integration objects (C), and message queues (D)-are not as suitable for real-time, synchronous interactions. FTP/SFTP is typically used for batch processing, integration objects facilitate interactions within Appian, and message queues are better suited for asynchronous processing.
