- B. Have the newly assigned technician review the project documentation.
- C. Make an appointment with the client to introduce the new technician to the client.

NEW QUESTION # 234

Which drawing represents a Reflected Ceiling Plan (RCP)? Please click anywhere on the correct image.

□

Answer:

Explanation:
□
Explanation:
The image in the bottom right represents a Reflected Ceiling Plan (RCP).
A Reflected Ceiling Plan (RCP) is a drawing that shows the layout of the ceiling as if it were reflected onto a mirror on the floor. It typically includes details like lighting fixtures, HVAC diffusers, sprinkler heads, and ceiling-mounted AV equipment. In this image, the bottom-right drawing displays these elements, with symbols for speakers, lights, diffusers, and other ceiling-mounted devices, which are characteristic of an RCP.
RCPs are essential in AV installations as they allow AV professionals to plan the placement of ceiling-mounted components, ensuring proper coverage and aesthetics within a room. Other drawings, such as those in the top left and bottom left, depict elevations and floor plans, which do not include ceiling-specific information. The top right diagram is a side view detail, possibly of a projector mount, rather than a ceiling layout.

NEW QUESTION # 236

A 2x2 video wall was sold with each display being Full HD resolution. Now the client wants to show live content at the best possible quality over the complete wall. Which resolution must the camera provide?

- A. 4096 x 2160
- B. 1920 x 1080
- C. 7680 x 4320
- D. 3840 x 2160

Answer: C

Explanation:
Each display in a 2x2 video wall setup at Full HD resolution (1920 x 1080) requires a total resolution of 3840 x 2160 for two displays horizontally and 2160 x 2 vertically, which equals 7680 x 4320. This resolution ensures each display shows content at the highest quality without scaling down.

NEW QUESTION # 237
Which microphone pattern is MOST susceptible to feedback? Select the correct pattern by clicking on it.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:
The second pattern from the left (the figure-eight pattern).
The figure-eight (or bidirectional) microphone pattern is the most susceptible to feedback among the choices shown. This pattern picks up sound equally from both the front and rear of the microphone while rejecting sound from the sides. Due to its large rear lobe, it is prone to capturing sounds from reflective surfaces or rear- facing speakers, which can lead to feedback in a live sound environment.
Here's a breakdown of the patterns:
* First pattern (Omnidirectional): Captures sound from all directions. While it can be prone to feedback, it doesn't have a rear lobe like the figure-eight pattern.
* Second pattern (Figure-eight/Bidirectional): Susceptible to feedback because it picks up equally from both front and back, which can include unwanted sound reflections.
* Third and Fourth patterns (Cardioid and Supercardioid): These are more directional with better rear rejection, thus less susceptible to feedback.
* Fifth pattern (Shotgun): Highly directional with minimal pickup from the rear and sides, making it the least susceptible to feedback.
CTS Technology Specialist Reference
CTS materials on microphone types and placement emphasize that bidirectional (figure-eight) microphones should be positioned carefully in live sound setups to avoid unwanted rear lobe pickup, which can lead to feedback when speakers are positioned behind or to the sides of the microphone.
