Databricks-Certified-Professional-Data-Engineer Study Materials & Databricks-Certified-Professional-Data-Engineer Certification Training & Databricks-Certified-Professional-Data-Engineer Best Questions

Passing the Databricks-Certified-Professional-Data-Engineer exam requires the ability to manage time effectively. In addition to the Databricks Certified Professional Data Engineer Exam (Databricks-Certified-Professional-Data-Engineer) exam study materials, practice is essential to prepare for and pass the Databricks Databricks-Certified-Professional-Data-Engineer exam on the first try. It is critical to do self-assessment and learn time management skills. Because the Databricks-Certified-Professional-Data-Engineer test has a restricted time constraint, time management must be exercised to get success. Only with enough practice one can answer real Databricks Databricks-Certified-Professional-Data-Engineer exam questions in a given amount of time.

Databricks Certified Professional Data Engineer Exam Sample Questions (Q49-Q54):

NEW QUESTION # 49

The data engineering team has configured a Databricks SQL query and alert to monitor the values in a Delta Lake table. The recent_sensor_recordings table contains an identifying sensor_id alongside the timestamp and temperature for the most recent 5 minutes of recordings.

The below query is used to create the alert:

SELECT MEAN(temperature), MAX(temperature), MIN(temperature)
FROM recent_sensor_recordings
GROUP BY sensor_id

The query is set to refresh each minute and always completes in less than 10 seconds. The alert is set to trigger when mean (temperature) > 120. Notifications are triggered to be sent at most every 1 minute.

If this alert raises notifications for 3 consecutive minutes and then stops, which statement must be true?

- A. The average temperature recordings for at least one sensor exceeded 120 on three consecutive executions of the query
- B. The maximum temperature recording for at least one sensor exceeded 120 on three consecutive executions of the query
- C. The source query failed to update properly for three consecutive minutes and then restarted
- D. The recent_sensor_recordingstable was unresponsive for three consecutive runs of the query
- E. The total average temperature across all sensors exceeded 120 on three consecutive executions of the query

Answer: A

Explanation:

This is the correct answer because the query is using a GROUP BY clause on the sensor_id column, which means it will calculate the mean temperature for each sensor separately. The alert will trigger when the mean temperature for any sensor is greater than 120, which means at least one sensor had an average temperature above 120 for three consecutive minutes. The alert will stop when the mean temperature for all sensors drops below 120. #### NEW QUESTION # 50

Data science team members are using a single cluster to perform data analysis, although cluster size was chosen to handle multiple users and auto-scaling was enabled, the team realized queries are still running slow, what would be the suggested fix for this?

- A. Disable the auto-scaling feature
- B. Use High concurrency mode instead of the standard mode
- C. Increase the size of the driver node
- D. Setup multiple clusters so each team member has their own cluster

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

The answer is Use High concurrency mode instead of the standard mode,

<https://docs.databricks.com/clusters/cluster-config-best-practices.html#cluster-mode> High Concurrency clusters are ideal for groups of users who need to share resources or run ad-hoc jobs.

Databricks recommends enabling autoscaling for High Concurrency clusters.

NEW QUESTION # 51

Which of the following are stored in the control pane of Databricks Architecture?

- A. Databricks Web Application
- B. Delta tables
- C. Databricks Filesystem
- D. All Purpose Clusters
- E. Job Clusters

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

The answer is Databricks Web Application

Azure Databricks architecture overview - Azure Databricks | Microsoft Docs Databricks operates most of its services out of a control plane and a data plane, please note serverless features like SQL Endpoint and DLT compute use shared compute in Control pane.

Control Plane: Stored in Databricks Cloud Account

* The control plane includes the backend services that Databricks manages in its own Azure account.

Notebook commands and many other workspace configurations are stored in the control plane and encrypted at rest.

Data Plane: Stored in Customer Cloud Account

* The data plane is managed by your Azure account and is where your data resides. This is also where data is processed. You can use Azure Databricks connectors so that your clusters can connect to external data sources outside of your Azure account to ingest data or for storage.

NEW QUESTION # 52

Which of the following python statements can be used to replace the schema name and table name in the query?

- A. 1.table_name = "sales"
2.query = f'select * from + schema_name +}.{table_name}'
- B. 1.table_name = "sales"
2.query = f'select * from {schema_name}.{table_name}'
- C. 1.table_name = "sales"
2.schema_name = "bronze"
3.query = f'select * from schema_name.table_name'
- D. 1.table_name = "sales"
2.query = "select * from {schema_name}.{table_name}"

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

The answer is

1.table_name = "sales"
2.query = f"select * from {schema_name}.{table_name}"

It is always best to use f strings to replace python variables, rather than using string concatenation.
