As part of the deployment cycle, a developer creates the following test class:
When the test class runs, the assertion fails.
Which change should the developer implement in the Apex test method to ensure the test method executes successfully?

- A. Query the Standard User into memory and enclose lines 15 and 16 within the system ,runAs; method.
- B. Add System, runAs (Use; to line 14 and enclose line 15 within Test, startTest); and Test ().
- C. Query the Administrator use into memory and enclose lines 15 and 16 within the system,runAs (use); method.
- D. Add @Istest% seeAllDataTrue; to line 12 and enclose lines 15 and 16 within Test .set(Test); and test ste-ptest();.

NEW QUESTION # 215
A developer completed modifications to a customized feature that is comprised of two elements:
* Apex trigger
* Trigger handler Apex class
What are two factors that the developer must take into account to properly deploy the modification to the production environment?
Choose 2 answers

- A. Apex classes must have at least 75% code coverage org-wide.
- B. At least one line of code must be executed for the Apex trigger.
- C. All methods in the test classes must use @isTest.

- D. Test methods must be declared with the testMethod keyword.

Answer: A,B

Explanation:
When deploying Apex code to a production environment, certain requirements must be met regarding test coverage and annotations.
Option B: Apex classes must have at least 75% code coverage org-wide.
Correct Requirement.
Salesforce requires that all Apex classes and triggers have a combined code coverage of at least 75% before deployment to production.
This means that, across all Apex code in the org, at least 75% of the code must be covered by test methods.
Every trigger must have some test coverage, even if the overall code coverage is above 75%.
Specifically, triggers must have at least 1% code coverage.
Test methods should be annotated with @isTest.
However, it's not mandatory that all methods in a test class use @isTest; helper methods within test classes can be private or public methods without the annotation.
Only the test methods themselves need the @isTest annotation.
The testMethod keyword is deprecated but still supported.
The preferred approach is to use the @isTest annotation.
Using testMethod is not recommended for new code.
Reference:
Code Coverage Requirement
Option D: At least one line of code must be executed for the Apex trigger.

Options Not Suitable:

Option C: Test methods must be declared with the testMethod keyword.

These are mandatory requirements for deploying Apex code to production.
