- A. For users who do not have access to Oracle Fusion Product Hub, Oracle provides an alternative option to create models directly in the workspace area.
- B. Only the optional structure and attributes of a Product Item are imported from Product Hub to Configurator and not the mandatory elements because they cannot be configured by an end user.
- C. Multiple drafts of the same model can be modified at the same time, but they must be in different workspaces.
- D. The user interface pages are tightly connected to the model. You cannot add, delete, or reorder pages without affecting the model structure.

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

"Configurator models are imported from items maintained in Oracle Fusion Product Hub (which is accessed by the Product Information Management work area) that have a Structure Type of Model. Only the optional structure and attributes of the product item are imported, because the required elements of the product item cannot be configured by an end user. The option classes and optional standard items for each model item are also imported."

"Configurator models are versioned objects. A model can go through multiple drafts before being released in a series of versions. There can be multiple drafts of the same model being modified at the same time, but they must be in different workspaces. A message notifies you if you add a model to a workspace when another draft exists in another workspace. There can only be a single released version of a model with the same effective start date."

NEW QUESTION # 77

Which task requires manual execution of the Process Supply Chain Orchestration Interface process so that a supply order gets created?

- A. Planned Order Releases
- B. Drop Shipment
- C. Back-to-Back Procurement
- D. Min-Max planning replenishing a purchase request
- E. Back-to-Back Contract Manufacturing

Answer: D

Explanation:

Min-Max planning replenishing a purchase request is the task that requires manual execution of the Process Supply Chain Orchestration Interface process so that a supply order gets created. Min-Max planning is a method of inventory replenishment that maintains a minimum and maximum quantity of each item in a warehouse or subinventory. When the quantity of an item falls below the minimum level, a purchase request is generated to replenish the item to the maximum level. The purchase request is then sent to the Supply Chain Orchestration Interface table, where it waits for the Process Supply Chain Orchestration Interface scheduled process to run. This process creates a supply order based on the purchase request and sends it to the supplier.

You must run this process manually or schedule it to run periodically.
