Medical Professional Certified Case Manager Certification Exam (CCM) Sample Questions (Q57-Q62):

NEW QUESTION # 57

Which one of the following statements is NOT correct in respect of FIDIC Yellow Book (both editions)?

- A. The General Conditions allocate the risks between the parties on a fair and equitable basis.
- B. The Contract typically becomes legally effective when the Employer issues the Letter of Acceptance to the Contractor.
- C. The Contractor provides plant and designs (except as otherwise specified) and executes the other works, all in accordance with the Contract, which includes its Proposal and the Employer's Requirements.
- D. A disproportionate amount of risks is allocated to the Contractor under the General Conditions.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Option C is NOT correct. FIDIC Yellow Book General Conditions aim to allocate risks fairly and equitably between the Employer and Contractor. The contract balances risks according to who is best able to manage them. It does not impose a disproportionate risk burden on the Contractor.

Options A, B, and D are correct statements describing typical contract formation, risk allocation, and Contractor's design and execution responsibilities.

NEW QUESTION # 58

During the execution of certain Works under a FIDIC Yellow Book (edition 1999), a Contract in a historical area along the silk route, one of the workers on the excavator shouts out to the supervisor of the Contractor it has discovered something on the Site. The supervisor inspects the finding and concludes this is possibly an ancient treasure in a wooden box. The supervisor sees some golden coins through the cracked lid of the box.

The supervisor immediately stops the execution of the Works, sends the workers away and blocks access to the Site for all persons. Given the sensitive nature of the findings, the supervisor informs you as Engineer.

How do you react?

- A. You immediately take action and give the instruction to the supervisor to make sure to cover this finding and till the excavation with material. You then redesign and make a determination (Sub-Clause 3.5) on a change of the Works - if needed - to make sure the execution can restart within days because of the need to finish this project.
- B. You compliment the supervisor for their swift and decisive action. However, the Works should advance as soon as possible. You ask the supervisor to excavate the box further, and place it in the back of your truck. You promise the supervisor you will drive the box yourself to the University in the city nearby, because it is very important to preserve found treasures like this. The Contractor is not entitled to an extension of time, as no delay has been incurred.
- C. You inform the supervisor that given the sensitive nature of the findings, you need a formal and written notice as mentioned in Sub-Clause 4.24 second paragraph, otherwise you cannot give further instructions. You ask them to send it to you as soon as possible, because otherwise you are not able to entitle the Contractor to any extension of time and payment of costs.
- D. You thank the supervisor for their action. You make sure the Site is secured and ask the Contractor to make an improvised barrier around the Site. You ask the Contractor to appoint its most trustworthy guards to set a perimeter. You inform the Employer and local authorities and you ask the Contractor to send you a notice in writing whereby it requests for a Variation (as this is needed for you to instruct the Contractor), thereby already including a fixed proposal for the costs of the guards and barrier, all in accordance with Sub-Clause 4.24.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Under FIDIC Yellow Book 1999, Sub-Clause 4.24 ("Unforeseeable Physical Conditions") deals with unexpected discoveries such as archaeological finds. The Engineer's role includes ensuring site safety, notifying the Employer and relevant authorities, and managing the implications through variations.

Option B reflects best practice: securing the site, appointing guards, notifying Employer and authorities, and requesting a formal Variation Notice to cover costs and entitlement to extension of time.

Options A and D are unsafe or legally risky actions that could damage the find and breach legal obligations.

Option C delays the necessary immediate protective actions.

NEW QUESTION # 59

Under the FIDIC Red Book (edition 2017), the Engineer has suspended works to come to a change of the design of a part of the Works. After expiry of 84 days of suspension, the Contractor gave notice thereof.

Following this notice, the suspension was not lifted within 28 days. What two statements are correct in such a situation?

- A. The Contractor may terminate the Contract if it affects the whole Works, but only after it has given a second notice to the Engineer.
- B. The Contractor may omit the affected part of Works and deny to carry out such Work going forward, but only after it has - given a second notice to the Engineer.

- C. Under the Contract the Parties cannot agree on further suspension and the Contractor may immediately terminate the Contract if it affects the whole Works.
- D. The Contractor cannot terminate the Contract.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Under FIDIC Red Book 2017, if the Engineer suspends works for more than 84 days and the Contractor notifies the Engineer, but the suspension is not lifted within 28 days, the Contractor may terminate the contract if the suspension affects the whole of the Works (Option A).

Additionally, the Contractor must give a second notice before termination (Option C). This process ensures proper communication and adherence to contractual procedures.

Option B is incorrect; termination is allowed under specified conditions.

Option D is incorrect; omission of work is not generally permitted without formal termination.

NEW QUESTION # 60

(Which two of the following items are new features introduced in FIDIC Red and Yellow Books (edition 2017) in respect to the procedures relating to the Programme?

Choose all of the correct answers (multiple possibilities).)

- A. The requirement to submit a revised programme by the Contractor whenever the previous programme is inconsistent with actual progress.
- B. The requirement that any revised programmes to be submitted by the Contractor is to reflect accurately the actual progress of the works.
- C. Specifying the programming software that shall be used by the Contractor in preparation of the Programme.
- D. Submission by the Contractor of a detailed time Programme to the Engineer within 28 days after receiving the notice under Sub-Clause 8.1.

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

Under FIDIC 2017, Clause 8.3 [Programme] was significantly enhanced compared to the 1999 editions, introducing more detailed and stricter requirements for programme management and updating.

Option A is correct. The 2017 editions explicitly require the Contractor to revise and resubmit the Programme whenever it becomes inconsistent with actual progress. This strengthens proactive project control and ensures that the Programme remains a live and reliable management tool.

Option C is also correct. FIDIC 2017 emphasizes that revised programmes must accurately reflect actual progress and current circumstances, including sequencing, logic, and resources. This aligns with the broader 2017 philosophy of improved transparency and contract administration.

Option B is incorrect because FIDIC does not mandate specifying particular programming software; this remains at the Contractor's discretion unless otherwise stated in Particular Conditions.

Option D is incorrect because submission of a programme within 28 days already existed in FIDIC 1999 (Sub- Clause 8.3), and therefore is not a "new" feature.

These enhancements reflect FIDIC 2017's focus on active project management, early warning, and accurate planning, making the Programme a central tool for monitoring and controlling project performance.

NEW QUESTION # 61

Regarding the FIDIC Red Book (edition 1999), which two statements are true?

- A. A notice is to be signed by the Engineer, Contractor ' s Representative or Employer ' s Authorised Representative.
- B. A notice and other communications may be delivered by hand, courier and mail. In each case with proof of receipt is required to qualify as legally valid.
- C. In emergency situations notices can also be submitted verbally (rather than (also) in writing).
- D. Notices and other communications may be sent in hand written, type written, in print or through an electronic original transmission system.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

Option A is true: In emergencies, verbal notices are permitted with the requirement to follow up in writing.

Option D is true: Notices and communications may be sent in various formats including handwritten, typed, printed, or electronic systems.

Option B is incorrect; a notice does not necessarily have to be signed by all these representatives; it depends on the party issuing the notice.

Option C is incorrect; proof of receipt is ideal but not always strictly required for legal validity depending on contract provisions.
