CompTIA Project+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q21-Q26):

NEW QUESTION # 21

An enhancement is set to be released into production, and availability issues need to be avoided. Before the release, which of the following should be the most important consideration?

- A. Risk assessment
- B. Cost
- C. System downtime
- D. Customer experience

Answer: A

Explanation:

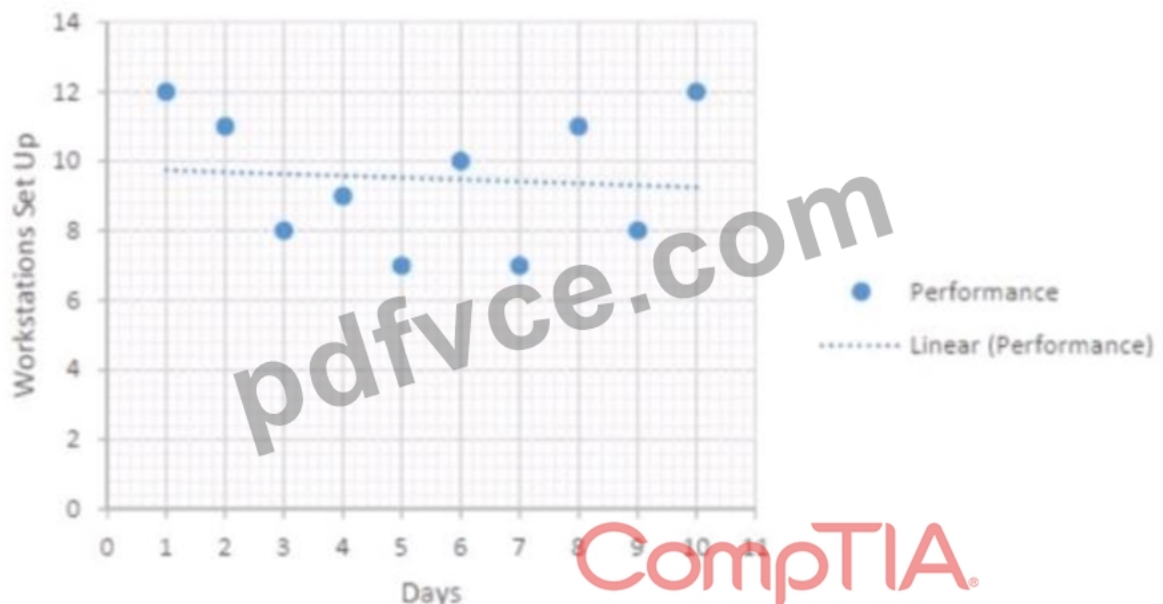

Before releasing an enhancement into production, conducting a risk assessment is crucial to identify potential issues that could affect system availability. This proactive approach helps in planning mitigation strategies to prevent downtime and ensure a smooth deployment.

According to the CompTIA Project+ PK0-005 exam objectives, under Domain 1.4: Given a scenario, perform risk management activities, risk assessment is a key activity to anticipate and address potential problems that could impact project success.

NEW QUESTION # 22

An IT intern was assigned to set up workstations as part of a project. The IT intern was very careful to do the task well and initially referred to notes while performing the task. By the end of the two-week rotation, the IT intern no longer needed the notes and completed more set-ups in less time. Which of the following MOST likely represents the observed relationship in this scenario?

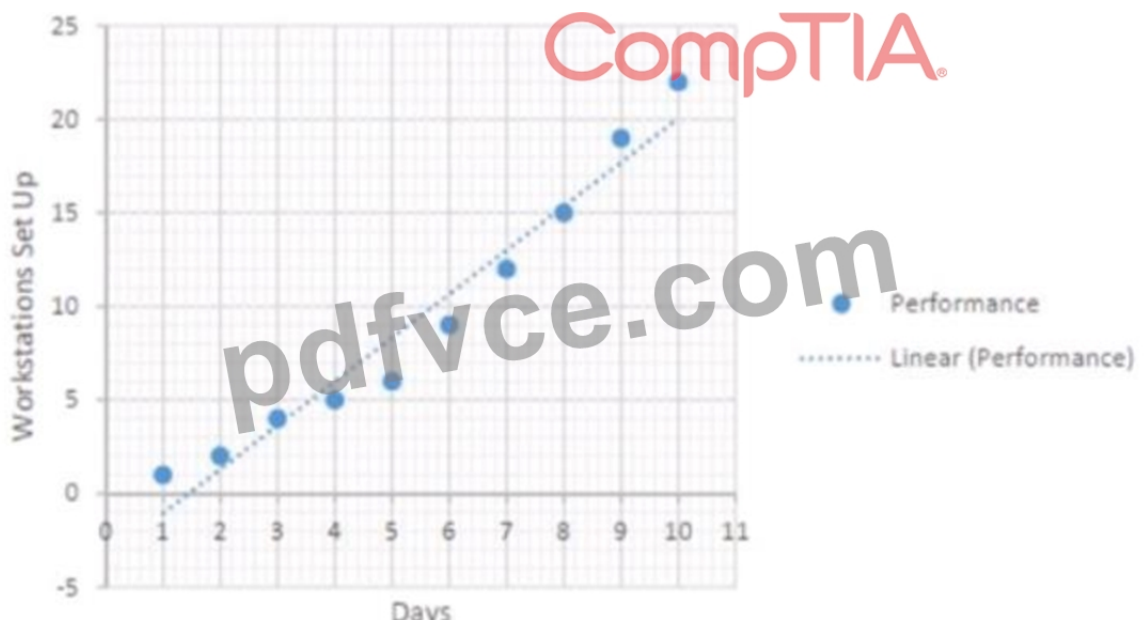

- A.

- B.

- C.
- D.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Option C shows a graph that most likely represents the observed relationship in this scenario. The graph shows a learning curve, which is a graphical representation of the relationship between a learner's performance on a task and the number of attempts or time required to complete the task. The learning curve theory proposes that a learner's efficiency in a task improves over time the more the learner performs the task. In this case, the IT intern was able to complete more set-ups in less time as they gained more experience and proficiency over the two-week rotation<sup>12</sup>

NEW QUESTION # 23

A project sponsor is struggling to provide the latest project status information on a weekly executive call. Which of the following should be reviewed?

- A. Meeting cadence
- B. Dashboard
- C. Gap analysis
- D. Adoption training

Answer: B

Explanation:

A dashboard is a visual tool that displays key project metrics and indicators in a single view<sup>12</sup>. A dashboard can help a project sponsor to provide the latest project status information on a weekly executive call by showing the project progress, budget, schedule, risks, issues, and milestones in a clear and concise way<sup>34</sup>. A dashboard can also facilitate communication, collaboration, and decision making among project stakeholders<sup>56</sup>. A dashboard should be reviewed and updated regularly to reflect the current state of the project<sup>7</sup>. ### NEW QUESTION # 24

A project coordinator has started a new project and is reviewing the following characteristics provided by the customer:

- * Two developers
- * High uncertainty about existing systems
- * Risk of frequent requirement changes
- * Tight deadlines

Which of the following project methodologies would be best to use in this situation?

- A. SAFe
- B. PRINCE2
- C. Scrum
- D. XP

Answer: C

Explanation:

This answer is based on the best practice of choosing a project management methodology that suits the project characteristics and environment<sup>12</sup>. Scrum is an agile framework that is designed to handle complex and uncertain projects with frequent changes and tight deadlines<sup>34</sup>. Scrum involves a small, cross-functional team that works in short iterations called sprints, delivering incremental and potentially shippable products at the end of each sprint<sup>5</sup>. Scrum also allows for continuous feedback and improvement through daily stand-up meetings, sprint reviews, and retrospectives<sup>6</sup>. Scrum is suitable for this project because it can accommodate the high uncertainty, the risk of requirement changes, and the tight deadlines, while also enabling the two developers to collaborate effectively and deliver value to the customer.
